RUSSIA READY TO TALK

Would Renew Berlin Debate

. . . NOTHING DEFINITE

Washington (AP)—The Soviet Union has passed the terse word that it is ready to resume exploratory talks on Berlin in the near future.

The talks have been in suspension for nearly a year.

There was no hint as to whether the Soviets have any new ideas on how to solve the Berlin problem. Nor were there any suggestions as to when or where the talks might be resumed.

Word that the Russians are ready came from the Soviet Foreign Ministry when V. S. Semenov, a deputy minister and a veteran in German affairs, called in John M McSweeney, counselor of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow Tuesday. He told McSweeney that Moscow would be agreeable to starting the U.S.-Soviet dialogue again.

Just Informed

U.S. officials in confirming this new development stressed that Semenov did not go beyond informing the American diplomat about his government's readiness to start talking again. The Russian made no suggestions on who should do the talking.

The Soviets made the first move at the end of January when they proposed to Foy D. Kohler, the U.S. ambassador to Moscow who was about to return home for consultations, that the talks, stalled since spring 1962, should be resumed.

After a round of conferences with the Allies the United States agreed and Kohler reported this to Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, after he returned to the Russian capital Feb. 25.

Indifference

Gromyko noted the U.S. consent with such indifference that it puzzled the administration's specialists who had assumed that when the Kremlin made its first proposal it wanted to sit down at the conference table as soon as possible.

This assumption was obviously wrong, since it took Moscow another 3 weeks to renew the issue and make the third move Tuesday. The State Department's experts had no explanation for this foot dragging.

Although McSweeney's interview with Semenov provided no clues to the obvious questions of when and where, Washington immediately consulted with its allies on Moscow's new invitation.

Group Met

The group which usually handles the Berlin issue consists of the ambassadors of Britain, France and West Germany. They met Wednesday afternoon with Llewellyn Thompson, the State Department's ambassador at large.

Thompson's meeting with the envoys was a matter of courtesy since the 3 Allies agreed after the Soviet initiative last January that the United States be authorized to further explore the possibilities of a Berlin solution.

While U.S. officials refused to speculate on what if any new ideas the Soviets may present, they recalled that Premier Khrushchev made it repeatedly clear in recent speeches that he thought the United Nations flag should replace the banners of the 3 Western occupying powers in West Berlin.

The Soviet leader will have to explain what he meant by this suggestion before officials would discuss it even as a theoretical possibility, high ranking specialists said.

PLAN FIGHT . . .

Wheat Ballot Is Key

. . . TO AG AID

New York (AP)— The National Farmers Union convention delegates promised Wednesday a grass roots fight to save the multi-billion-dollar federal farm-aid program.

Leaders told the delegates from 40 states that the future of those programs started in the depression of the 1930s hangs in the balance. Their fate will be determined, leaders said, by results of a grower referendum — probably May 21 — on a new Kennedy administration production control plan for wheat.

President Kennedy himself said as much in a recorded statement made before the convention. He said the referendum will show whether or not farmers want government prices, incomes and production.

Divided

The President in effect called upon farmers to settle for themselves an issue which has divided them sharply over government's role in agriculture. The Farmers Union, the National Grange, and a number of commodity farm groups want the government to continue strong programs for agriculture.

But the American Farm Bureau Federation, the largest of the national farm organizations, and a number of livestock groups have been trying to get government out of agriculture. Congress itself is sharply divided on the issue.

Reuben L. Johnson, director of the Farmers Union legislative services, told delegates that Congress had adopted a wait-and-see policy on future farm legislation. He said members will be influenced, if not governed, by the outcome of the wheat vote.

May Lose

"If the referendum goes against us, we may well lose most if not all the present farm programs," he said.

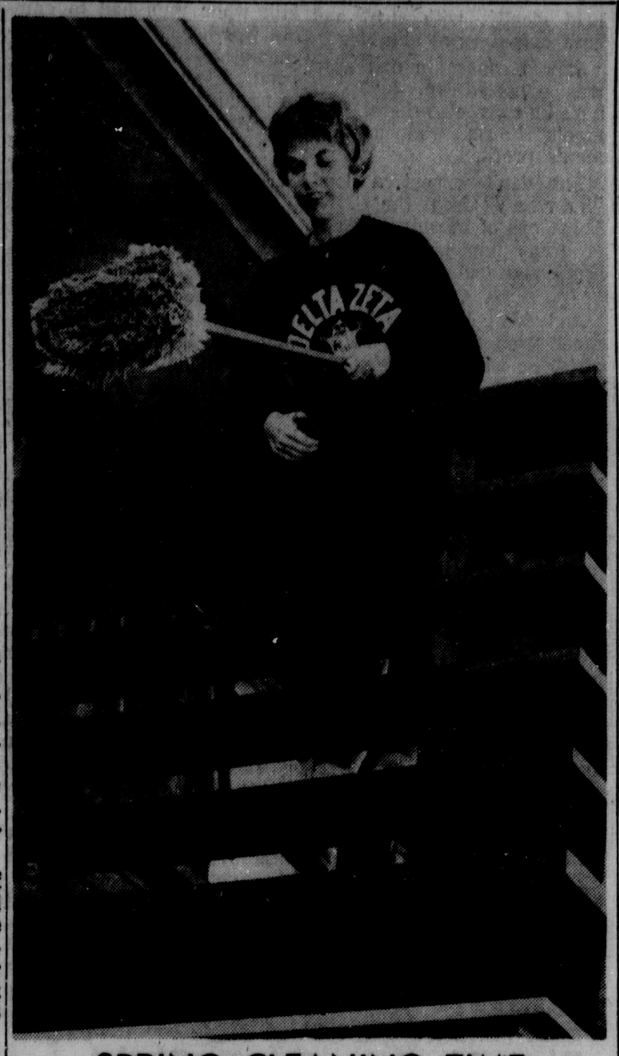
"That would include the agricultural conservation program under which cost-sharing payments are made to farmers for conservation practices. It could mean in time the loss of cotton, tobacco, rice and peanut programs. It could mean even that the Agriculture Department would have difficulty getting sufficient money to carry out its other activities," he added.

In one of its last actions before adjourning, the convention adopted by unanimous vote a statement calling upon wheat producers to vote for the new plan.

Difficult

Winning the referendum would be difficult. Approval by at least two-thirds of those voting is required. Nevertheless, the Farmers Union is strongest in Western wheat-producing areas.

The present programs encompass price supports, production payments, government purchase of surpluses, production controls on some commodities, export payments, movement of surpluses abroad under food-for-peace measures and payments for idling land not needed for crops.



SPRING CLEANING TIME

Comes spring and women—even sorority girls—can't resist the cleaning urge. Not even when they live in a brand new house. Judie Wynkoop was hard at work Wednesday at Wesleyan University's Delta Zeta House, 1401 No. 51st. Spring cleaning was needed, she said, even though members moved into the house just a few weeks ago. SPRING LOOK FOR METERS

Lincoln's parking meter posts began getting a new, bright spring look Wednesday. The bright colors are coded to make it easier for motorists to tell how long they can park at each; 12-minute meters will be orange, 30-minute red, one hour yellow, two hours green, and 10 hours blue. In the picture above the telephoto camera has pulled together a number of meters on the north side between 9th and 10th—all getting red (30-minute) paint. (Star Photo.)

Building Needs Outlined For Budget Committee

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Long range building needs of several state agencies and institutions were outlined before the Budget Committee Wednesday through two bills which call for increases in building levies and seek changes in existing methods of allocating such funds.

First of the bills heard was LB439, introduced by Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, which seeks to increase the present 1.1 mills institutional building fund levy to 1.6 mills and change the distribution formula to give much of the increase to the Department of Institutions. It also would extend the levy to 1968.

The second measure was LB534, introduced by Lincoln's 3 senators, Marvin Stromer, Fern Hubbard Orme and Jerome Warner, to create a Univeristy of Nebraska building fund of .6 of a mill to be used by the Board of Regents to erect and equip buildings, and purchase land and buildings.

In presenting his bill, Sen. McGinley stated he offered it as a "vehicle" to generate discussions of state building needs.

Emphasizes Needs

"It was not drafted from an objective standpoint," McGinley said, but was drawn based on "recommendations from the Department of Institutions to emphasize their needs."

The Ogallala senator also called to the committee's attention an error in the printed bill which had not changed the present levy—noting that it should read 1.6 mills.

Several persons associated with University functions, particularly in the field of agriculture, told the committee they had been prepared to oppose the bill, but with the clarification of the added funds sought, and knowledge that it would not reduce present revenues for other agencies, they would support the bill instead.

Speaking in support of the measure, Director of Institutions George Morris, said the department's major need was at the Beatrice State Home, and its second greatest need was a hospital at the Soldiers and Sailors Home at Grand Island.

Needs Cited

He noted the overcrowded conditions at the Beatrice Home and the ever-growing waiting list for admissions to that institution, plus the need for improved medical and research, educational and rehabilitative facilities.

Morris said the department was not trying to tie itself to anything over two years, because he believes the program should be re-evaluated every two years.

The department has a long-range building plan for all its institutions over a 7-year period which would cost an estimated $14.2 million.

Mrs. Wilmer Bishop, president of the Beatrice State Home Association; Mrs. Charles Cheyne of Omaha, representing the Nebraska State Association for Retarded Children; American Legion State Commander William Galbraith, Lester Anderson of Lincoln, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, were among those speaking in behalf of LB439.

NU OUTLINES PLANS, PAGE 10

'Must Face Needs'

Speaking in behalf of the second measure, Sen. Stromer stated that Nebraska is "going to have to face up to the building needs for all higher educational institutions."

He cited the "bulging buildings" on the University of Nebraska campuses, the need to replace old structures, and need to build for the greatly expanding enrollments.

"The process of educating Nebraska children cannot take second place to the rehabilitation of wards of the state and the building of other buildings," Stromer said. "We must insure that the children of Nebraska get the same top-rate education as is being provided by our neighboring states."

NU Vice Chancellor Adam Breckenridge spelled out the University's long-range building needs for its city campus, agricultural campus and outlying University experiment stations.

Total cost of the NU building program was estimated at $36.1 million — $20.5 million of which would go to the city campus, and $15.6 million slated for the agricultural campus.

Dr. Breckenridge explained NU is faced with a "two-fold problem" in the need for replacement of buildings which have outlived their usefulness, and the need to build for the "phenomenal" enrollment growth now underway.

JFK: Cuba Example Of Communism's Failure

San Jose, Costa Rica (AP) — President Kennedy told an enthusiastic crowd of university students Wednesday that Cuba is an example of communism's failure to provide for its people. He held up the $20 billion Alliance for Progress as Latin America's New Deal.

"The myth of the 1950s," he said, the claim that communism could build a better system, has collapsed. "It is our adversaries who must build walls to contain their people."

Winding up his 3-day solidarity meeting with presidents of 6 middle American republics, Kennedy told students and townspeople at the University of Costa Rica they share in the task of proving that men can protect freedom and conquer want and ignorance.

Revived

Reviving a quotation by Franklin D. Roosevelt, he said:

"I can say here to you: this generation of Americans —your generation of Americans — has a rendezvous with destiny."

An estimated 10,000 people, about half of them students, stood quietly as the Presi- was interrupted by cries of "viva Kennedy." He stopped smiled, looking a little embarrassed, then continued. At the end he said:

"Viva Costa Rica. Muchas gracias" (many thanks).

The cheering crowd then gave him a wildly enthusiastic sendoff, flattening barriers, sweeping guards aside and escorting him to the side of his Marine Corps helicopter.

Pressed

The throng pressed close as the helicopter's huge blade began turning to lift Kennedy to the airport and his presidential plane. The farewell matched the exuberance of the greeting he received on arrival Monday from some 200,000 Costa Ricans.

In a late change, Kennedy dropped from his prepared text at the university a declaration that the Soviet Union must get out of Cuba. He also omitted statements that Cubans should share in the principles of freedom and economic growth on which he said the alliance is based.

In their place he inserted the comment that communism's claim that it can build a better system has collapsed. Pointing to Cuba as an example, he said:

"It is no accident that agricultural production in Cuba is off 25% from 5 years ago." When economic and social freedom are denied, he added, the right to advance is denied.

Frequently

Correspondents who travel with Kennedy noted that he frequently departs from his prepared texts. They saw no special significance in his omission of the section on Cuba.

Assistant Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher confirmed that the text distributed in advance becomes a part of the official presidential record regardless of delivery.

Speaking of the United States depression "of my own university days," the Harvard graduate of 1940 said 12 million people were out of work, almost equal to the population of all Central America.

Carried Through

"Then, under the leadership of Franklin Roosevelt, we carried through a great New Deal."

He described the New Deal as "an illustration of the capacity of free men to achieve a profound peaceful revolution on behalf of economic progress and social justice."

He told the students their task is to build an American society on 4 basic principles of the Alliance for Progress.

Principles

He listed these as the right of each nation to govern itself, free from outside dictation, and build its economy and society "in any fashion consistent with the will of its people"; the right of each individual citizen to freedom in politics, speech and worship; the right to social justice, which "may often mean that ancient institutions which serve merely to perpetuate the privileges of a fortunate few will be ended"; and the right of every nation "to pursue a course of rapid economic progress which modern knowledge and technology have made possible."

2 Kimball Women Safe After Cold Night In Car

Kimball (AP)—Two 17-year-old Kimball women were taken Wednesday from their stalled auto, cold and hungry but safe, after spending the night in the rugged hill country northeast of Kimball.

The two are Mrs. William Buckner and Virginia Daniels. Mrs. Buckner's husband was in an airplane which spotted the car stuck in a snowdrift 12 miles north and 9 east of Kimball.

Highway patrolmen Roy Anderson and John Oliver, both of Kimball, reached the car about noon Wednesday about an hour after it was sighted from the plane.

'Cold, Long Night'

"I never spent a colder night in my life," Miss Daniels told officers, "nor a longer one."

The two women had driven north Tuesday afternoon to pick up Mrs. Buckner's husband who had begun walking from a farm northeast of Kimball.

However, they took a wrong turn and end up stuck about 3 p.m. on an oil lease road described as little more than a trail. The area is known as "The Breaks" and is described by one resident as nothing but "hills, rocks and trees."

The search for the pair began when Buckner got back to town without having seen the women. It was resumed early Wednesday with two planes, 3 state troopers and sheriff's officers from Banner, Cheyenne, Kimball and Morrill Counties taking part.

Lincoln's Airport Squabble Outlined

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The opposing views of the City Council and Lincoln Airport Authority on LB659 providing for council appointment of authority members were outlined Wednesday before the Legislature's Public Works Committee.

The committee held the bill and LB644, also dealing with the Lincoln authority, for further study.

Henry Holst, deputy city attorney, offered two amendments to LB659.

One would delay proposed council appointive powers over authority members until May 1967.

The other would permit the authority to represent the city in aviation matters dealing with promotion or air services cases under the supervision of the council.

'Cure Splinter'

Holst said the bill, supported by the council, is an attempt to resolve some of the problems of "splinter government" and bring the authority board, now elected by the voters, closer to city government.

Chauncey Barney, airport authority attorney, urged continuation of the authority board on an elected basis.

"There should be no taxation without representation," he said in noting the authority spends tax funds for airport work.

Leo Beck Jr., authority chairman, urged the authority's elected, autonomous position be continued and charged that the "city has intervened with the Federal Aviation Agency almost to the point of upsetting authority plans."

Holst said appointment of authority members, as proposed by the bill, will not endanger airport bonds or the $4.6 airport project, but will remove a "splinter of government that can perpetuate itself."

Work Opportunity

On another provision, Barney said the Legislature should give the city and authority the opportunity to work together on aviation promotion and rate cases, but he objected to this duty being added to the authority's chores, particularly under council supervision and control.

Both the authority and city representatives strongly objected to LB644, making it mandatory for the authority to promote aviation matters and represent the city in rate and scheduling cases.

Barney said such duties shouldn't be handed to the authority unless an additional one-tenth mill were permitted for this purpose.

Retain Control

Holst said city would go along with the bill only if the council could retain control over how the authority would represent the city.

The committee also held for study LB603, proposing to resolve extraterritorial zoning jurisdiction between Omaha and nearby villages.

Omaha has a 3-mile zoning limit while Boys Town, Ralston and Millard have a half-mile limit.

Attorneys for Omaha, Boys Town and Ralston said they favor the bill as drafted, but an attorney for Omaha homebuilders proposed amendments which drew objections from Millard.

U. S., RUSSIA SIGN ACCORD

Will Eye Weather Together

Rome (AP)— U.S. and Soviet scientists signed an accord Wednesday for a joint weather satellite program, then called for broader American-Russian cooperation to include probes to other planets.

They also agreed on the launching of the U.S. Echo II satellite for joint communications tests. The agreements were reached in 10 days of negotiations here.

Both agreements were reached under a space cooperation accord signed by the two countries last June. They were announced at a joint news conference by Hugh L. Dryden of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Anatoly A. Blagonravov of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

Led Teams

Dryden and Blagonravov led the teams of negotiators.

Under the weather satellite program each country will launch a satellite on a different orbit to take cloud and other weather pictures and collect meteorological data. Each country will launch as many satellites as necessary to keep the program going on a more or less permanent basis.

A 24-hour cable and radio communications network will be established between the two countries for the exchange of weather information and pictures. The data also will be made public throughout the world.

Probably '64

The first launchings will probably be in 1964. Each country will pay for its own satellites.

Echo II — 140 feet in diameter and larger and stronger than Echo I — will be used in a separate program for experiments that might eventually lead to a global communications network, including the exchange of radio and television programs.

Jodrel Bank and possibly other British ground stations will serve as relay points between Russia and the United States for signals bounced off Echo II, to be launched in about two months.

Express Hope

Dryden and Blagonravov expressed hope the accords will open the way for broader agreements.

"The first step is always the hardest, the Russian said.

Dryden said American and Soviet scientists will meet in Warsaw later this year to discuss probes of Mars and Venus.

Wine Flows Following Socialite's Royal Rites

Gangtok, Sikkim (AP) — Imported wines flowed in this tiny Himalayan realm Wednesday night in gay sequel to the storybook wedding of its crown prince and an American socialite.

Chefs came from Calcutta and an orchestra from Bombay for 4 days of celebrations to mark the marriage of Miss Hope Cooke, 22, of New York and Washington, and 39-year-old Prince Thondup Namgyal.

Rites blazing with Oriental color joined the couple in wedlock in a mountaintop Buddhist chapel. An exchange of 12-foot-long white silk scarves completed the ceremony. Miss Cooke became the Majarajkumarani —crown princess—of this Indian-protected state on the doorstep of Red China.

Two hundred foreign guests, including 3 maharajas and 9 ambassadors to India—among them John Kenneth Galbraith of the United States—looked on as a red-robed lama read prayers in Tibetan.

The lama invoked the blessing of the guardian deities of Sikkim to complete the 50-minute ceremony.

The groom sat cross-legged on a 3-foot throne. The bride on a slightly lower platform. The couple exchanged whispers and occasional smiles. The ceremony required no taking of marriage vows.

The bride wore the traditional mokey, or wrap-around gown, of Sikkim's Lepcha women. In deference to Western custom, her gown was white instead of many-hued.

Sea Claims Gallant Bear

Boston (AP) — She was nearly 90 years old—the gallant little ship Bear. In her past were rescues of hundreds of mariners, and victories over the furies of northern and soutern polar seas. She carried Adm. Richard E. Byrd's 1933 expedition to the Antarctic. Now she rests at the bottom of the North Atlantic.

If sailing ships have personalities, as generations of sailormen have held, it may be that the barkentine Bear would have had it so:

To go down in darkness in a savage, wintry ocean, with a storm wind whistling through her shrouds.

For that was the way she went Tuesday night.

-TWO WOMEN DEAD-

Tainted Tuna Under Probe

New York (AP) — The A&P food chain Wednesday cleared the shelves in its 4,400 supermarkets of all canned tuna bearing its own label. A tin of the fish was blamed in the suspected poisoning death of two Detroit housewives.

The women were believed to have died of botulism, caused by Japanese tuna contaminated during canning on the West Coast. It was not known whether a single small tin might have gone wrong in the canning process, or whether others in a shipment of more than 5,000 cans might be tainted.

Federal authorities were checking samples across the nation, on the chance that illness or death lurked beneath the sealed lids of other cans. In Washington, Commissioner George P. Larrick of the Food and Drug Administration said tests thus far had proven negative.

Not Sure

The canning firm involved said it was not sure the tuna actually was the cause of the Detroit deaths. And at least one Washington official found it difficult to believe that botulism, a rarity in this day and age, killed the victims.

Nevertheless, housewives were urged to check their pantries for A&P brand tuna, and in New York the health authorities suggested all such tins be returned to A&P markets for refunds. The food chain pledged its full cooperation.

Consumers were warned to be especially alert for 6½ ounce cans bearing the A&P label and the coded lid markings "WY3Y2" and "118X." This type of can, retrieved empty from a garbage can, was believed involved in the Detroit deaths.

Shared Snack

Mrs. Margaret McCarthy. 39, died in Detroit Tuesday, three days after her neighbor, Mrs. Collette Brown, 37. The women shared a snack of canned tuna late last week, then developed symptoms resembling type E botulism.

Botulism is described in medical dictionaries as food poisoning due to the production of toxins in improperly canned food, characterized by the abrupt onset of violent symptoms, often fatal. Type E designates a poison originating in fish products that attacks the nervous system.

Washington health officials said the last known occurrence of botulism as a result of canned foods in this country occurred in the mid-1920s and originated with canned olives.

Master Sergeant Injured In Mishap

M. Sgt. Redfern Ragsdale, 35, of Lincoln Air Force Base, suffered fractured ribs, a broken left arm, multiple abrasions, and a head injury when the car he was driving went off the road Wednesday afternoon.

The Nebraska Safety Patrol said Ragsdale was driving south on Neb. 79 south of Raymond when the car went off the road, sailed 92 feet through the air, hit a creek embankment and rolled another 32 feet.

The 1963-model car was completely demolished, the patrol said. Ragsdale was in satisfactory condition at Veterans Hospital.

Fire Blamed In Death Of Rose Jordan

A fire in the apartment of Mrs. Rose Jordan, 46, of 1002 L, caused her death March 3 at St. Elizabeth Hospital, according to Fire Inspector DeWayne McIntyre.

McIntyre said her death was the result of burns she suffered in the small fire.

The fire was not reported to the Fire or Police Departments, and Mrs. Jordan apparently was alone at the time, McIntyre said.

McIntyre conducted his investigation after he learned of the death March 6, the day of Mrs. Jordan's funeral.

He talked with several people who had talked with Mrs. Jordan following the fire and learned it apparently started when some food she was cooking burned. She apparently lighted two candles to help clear away the smell from the fire and then either sprayed room deodorant toward the flame or sprinkled some liquid deodorizer around it and this caused her dress to catch fire.

Winters' Extremes Not Too Hard On Business

...BUT INDIVIDUALS FELT BLOWS

By The Associated Press

For all its extremes, this winter wasn't as hard on business as a bad winter sometimes is.

Over-all commerce perked along pretty smoothly, with retail sales up a couple percentage points from a year ago. Industrial production held steady, with steel and auto output even climbing.

Slow business in one area was canceled out by good business elsewhere. One man's loss was another man's profit.

But don't expect a loud "hurray" from the C. W. Lumsdens of Florida, not after what happened to their Florida orange groves.

No Cheers

And don't count on a loud cheer from California ski resorts, so short of snow for weeks that one official said they should be declared a "sunshine disaster area."

And don't expect dad to be pleased that his higher fuel bills helped boost petroleum industry earnings, that his pharmacy bills helped explain near record drug sales, or that his garage tab helped set new marks in sales of car batteries and snow tires.

He and others questioned in a coast-to-coast Associated Press survey didn't recall the winter of 1962-63 in terms of general means and averages and indices. They recalled what it did to their own personal pocketbooks and livelihoods, for better or worse.

That's why many people will remember it as the weird winter that went one place it shouldn't — Florida —and didn't go another place it should—the Western mountains.

Tell Tales

Florida's citrus growers tell tales of mid-December 1962, when every old tire in sight was burned to chase the cold, when ice picked and chose among trees to kill, when men had to gamble whether to pick fruit immediately for canning or hope it would recover and bring higher prices later.

It was an anxious time for those growers who, unlike the many others with wider financial interests, depend on the groves for a living.

Mrs. C. W. Lumsden fingered a wasted branch of a tree in the grove she and her husband operate near Valrico, and said:

"I imagine our income will be about half what it was last year. But we put something aside during the good years for times like these."

Elsewhere

Winter freezes hit crops elsewhere—causing some $7.9 million damage to California's Imperial Valley, about $3 million damage to Texas' Lower Rio Grande Valley. In both areas, however, higher prices for surviving crops canceled out losses for most farmers.

The freezes also helped wipe out surpluses held by food processers — and their earnings improved.

Ski resort owners felt the winter too, in varied ways.

New Hampshire resort owners said "we never had it so good." In the Rockies, operators were talking red ink until about Christmas—but then snow came and saved the season. In California, they're still talking red ink, and doing bookwork with it.

Two Northern California resorts used artificial snow machines, but even these didn't work in thawing temperatures. Some 30 resorts, including many in the Lake Tahoe area, closed down. Resort owners lost $1 million or more. Shops and restaurants that normally serve ski crowds said business was off 90%.

8 NU Students Selected For Ag Honorary

Eight students at the University of Nebraska have been elected to membership in the Beta chapter of Alpha Tau Alpha, national honorary fraternity for men majoring in vocational education in agriculture.

Dale Pohlmann, Deshler, president of the Beta chapter at the College of Agriculture, said the following students have been elected to the fraternity:

Donavon Benson, Newman Grove; Sidney Borcher, Pawnee City; Leroy J. Cech, Clarkson; Richard Lee Douglass, Crete; Ronald Dyer, Franklin; Roger Epp, Aurora; Keith E. Gilster, Pender and Francis Jorgensen, Sidney.

Nine other students were initiated as agricultural education subsidiary members of Alpha Tau Alpha. They included: H. Eugene Cook, Arcadia; Alton K. Cook, Rising City; Stanley Foster, Seward; Donald H. Friedricksen, Bloomfield; George Hermone, Davey; Fred Krausnick, Wauneta; Francis Lavicky, Seward; Edward Stich, Dorchester; and Leroy Tejral, Lyons.

Triplets Make 18-Year-Old The Mother Of 7 Children

Bakersfield, Calif. (AP)—An 18-year-old woman gave birth to triplets here and she and her 20 year old husband thus became the parents of 7 children.

"The first thing I asked Jose," said Mrs. Anita Escobedo, the mother, "Was: Now do I get that automatic Washer? I had my hands full with the twins."

The Escobedo triplets are two girls, each weighing a little over 4 pounds, and a son, 5 pounds, 9 ounces. Born within only 14 minutes, they weighed a total of 13 pounds, 14 ounces.

The other children are twins—a boy and a girl — aged 2; a daughter, 4 and another son, 1.

Mrs. Escobedo said her husband earns $50 a week in the summer as a farm laborer, but now has a hard time finding any work.

"He is lucky if he can get $4 or $5 a day in the winter chopping beets," she explained.

They live at nearby McFarland in a 3-room house for which they pay $40 a month rent. Kern County General Hospital said the family is not receiving welfare aid.

The Escobedos were married when Anita was only 14.

The hospital reported mother and children are doing just fine.

Boy Bruised In Crash Is Treated At Hospital

David L. Seip, 9, of 5023 A, was released after treatment at Bryan Memorial Hospital Wednesday afternoon for bruises and abrasions he received in a car-pedestrian accident on 52nd between A and Washington.

Police said David and a car driven by Fred C. Brown, 16, of 1200 Fall Creek Road, collided. The boy was taken to the hospital by Brown's father, Dr. Earl H. Brown, police said, and the accident was not immediately reported.

Church Women Urged To Face Unmet Needs

By KAREN KENNEY
Star Staff Writer

A commissioned deaconess in the Methodist Church and an active social worker from the South called on Nebraska Methodist women Wednesday to meet the needs of a great unmet mission field of the world.

Said Miss Carolyn Grisham, director of the Bethlehem Community House in Chattanooga, Tenn.,:

"Just as the church has a mission responsibility to foreign countries, it has a duty to perform to the young people of America, to the physically and mentally handicapped, and to the economically depressed."

She told some 600 delegates ot the Women's Society of Christian Service gathered for dinner at Pershing Auditorium Wednesday evening that:

"When we criticize the church and its work, we criticize ourselves. It is up to us to meet the needs of the world by dedicating our lives to God's service."

Speaking on the subject of fulltime Christian vocations, she said that a deaconess does not give more valuable or dedicated service than do laywomen, but that the church needs a committed core of workers they can count on consistently.

"Some people can serve best through the formal structure of the church. As a deaconess, the church can send me to meet those people who would not otherwise meet the church."

She added that it is the women's responsibility to help inform the youth of the denomination of the opportunities afforded them in fulltime Christian service.

The southern social worker who deals with those in underprivileged Negro areas in Chattanooga, Tenn., said most people are not as daring and courageous as they think.

The church needs, and stands behind the radical, non-conformist, she said.

The symbol of the Methodist church is a ship and the symbol of the WSCS conference is the unfinished ship, she pointed out.

Said Miss Grisham, "Training for Christian vocations is easy to obtain; jobs are plentiful for the trained; money is available for salaries—we need dedicated people to pledge themselves to finish the ship."

Miss Grisham spoke in Lincoln in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of Methodist deaconess work.

Earlier in the day, Miss Uniola Adams, missionary nurse recently returned from a Methodist Board of Missions' leprosarium in Ganta, Liberia, told nearly a 1,000 conferencees:

"It is a temptation to dwell on the spectacular and great work of the church, and neglect the 'old-fashioned' path."

She said that too often our service is an expression of our own need, but that the missionary role in the world today is becoming one of both give and take.

"It is hard to accept 'take,'" she said. "We are too inclined to deprive others of what they want. Don't kid yourself into thinking we are always generous and loving —we are often selfish and stubborn."

More than 1,300 delegates are expected to gather by Thursday for a full-day's session at St. Paul's Methodist Church. Bishop Kenneth W. Copeland will address the evening meeting.

Governor Behind Fair Employment

By NANCY RAY
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison added his voice to proponents of fair employment practices legislation, telling members of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee that "we must make the maximum use of people without regard to their ethnic origin."

The governor joined more than 20 other witnesses who spoke for LB347 —setting up FEPC regulations in the state — at a public hearing Wednesday.

Witnesses against the measure gave more lengthy testimony, criticizing the bill and calling such legislation unnecessary, unworkable and unfair.

After 4 hours of testimony on LB347 and a companion measure dealing with discrimination in public accommodations, the committee adjourned, delaying any decision on the bills until Friday.

Automation Problem

Witnesses urging the legislation to establish employment without discrimination as a civil right cited the increasing problems of minority races with skills replaced by automation, and the high rate of unemployment among Negroes and other non-white groups.

Sen. Terry Carpenter, a member of the committee considering the bill, spoke in its favor, commenting that "we can't afford the luxury of discrimination." He said, "No progress has been made through voluntary methods in handling this problem."

Other senators speaking for the bill included Sam Klaver of Omaha, Donald McGinley of Ogallala, Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, and its introducer, Edward Danner of Omaha.

Representatives of the Urban League, state AFL-CIO and other labor groups, the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, Nebraska Council of Churches, and representatives of Catholic and Episcopal bishops added their approval to the measure, which has repeatedly failed to be reported out of committee in past legislative sessions.

Opposing the measure were officials of the Associated Industries of Nebraska, State Chambers of Commerce, Midwest Employers Council, and individual businessmen.

Omahan Fears

Robert Skochdopole, Omaha attorney speaking for AIN, scored LB347 as providing a "broad grant of power unequaled in legislation" and authorizing the power be delegated "possibly to untrained personnel."

The bill calls for the state commissioner of labor to delegate supervisory authority to qualified Human Rights Commissions or other authorized local bodies.

"This bill will only serve to inflame, not aid the situation," the Omaha attorney said.

Another Associated Industries spokesman, Merle Jones of Beatrice, said: "We the employers are the ones who are really on trial here today . . . This legislation would place us in a straitjacket."

'No Problem'

Earl Luff of Lincoln, representing the State Chambers of Commerce, said: "There is no evidence that this (discrimination in employment) is a problem."

Other opponents called the bill a danger to the small businessman, a "headache" to personnel managers, discriminatory to minorities other than Negroes, and a matter for the church, not government, to handle.

LB364, adding hotels, motels, trailer courts, taverns, beauty parlors and places of recreation to the businesses required to offer equal treatment to all customers, was heard without opposition.

Ed Weaver After Seat On Council

Edward M. Weaver Sr. of 2220 Calvert filed Wednesday as a candidate for City Council.

Weaver, 67, is board chairman of Weaver Potato Chip Co., which grew from a home operation in 1932 to a plant employing 50 persons.

Weaver

"I feel I owe much to Lincoln, and I want to contribute to its growth and development," Weaver said in filing.

'Repay City'

"I feel that through service on the City Council, I can, in some measure repay the community for all that it has done for me."

Noting that city government collects and spends $6.5 million annually, Weaver said "my business experience might be helpful in the operation of the city's business."

Weaver is married, has two grown children, is a member of the Scottish Rite and Shrine, Westminster Presbyterian Church, American Legion and past director of Potato Chip Institute International. He was a World War I fighter pilot.

Consumers Operation Urged By Council Candidate Carr

Frank Carr, candidate for City Council, said Wednesday he favors consolidation of the two electric systems in the city and its operation by Consumers Public Power District.

"I feel city government should stay away from free enterprise functions," he said. "Consumers is large, better equipped."

Carr, who has opened a campaign headquarters at 1720 O, discussed his views of city government and Lincoln growth at a news conference.

Carr said he felt the fulltime mayor plan was an improvement in city government, but said the city council "should be flexible to work with the new mayor without any prejudice or reservations."

Planning Needed

"Plans and studies must be enacted, in coordination with legislative and planning groups, in order to see any progress. Members need the foresight to determine how issues will effect all concerned," he said.

"Once a decision is reached, it should be maintained," he stated in noting that recently an issue before the council was reversed 3 times and is still pending.

Other Carr comments:

—undecided on a Sunday closing measure, but thinks the people should vote on the issue if it becomes controversial.

—favors annexation of industrial tracts to the city. "If industrial property receives city services, it should be a part of the city."

—a city-county building is needed and long overdue.

Carr, 51, is owner of Carr Heating and Air Conditioning Co. serving Nebraska and northern Kansas.

He was employed by the New England Gas & Electric System before coming to Lincoln with his family in 1953.

Sharp Increase In Acreage Of Corn, Sorghum Indicated

Nebraska farmers, apparently because of bumper corn and sorghum crops last year, plan to sharply increase acreages planted to those crops this year, state-federal agricultural statisticians said Wednesday.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated Nebraska will have 5,844,000 acres of corn this year — up 8% from last year.

A state-federal statistician said "the main reason is that yields were so good last year. In addition, groundwater for irrigation is adequate and subsoil moisture reserves are average or above."

The USDA estimated Nebraska will have 1,971,000 acres planted to grain sorghum — up 10% from last year.

The statistician said, "again this is primarily due to exceptionally high yields in 1962. There will also be some growers shifting to sorghum from corn because of serious corn rootworm problems in some areas."

"Another factor in increased acreage is that it appears there is a smaller acreage diversion in corn and sorghum acreage to comply with the feed grain program than a year ago," the spokesman said.

The USDA estimated Nebraska farmers will plant 319,000 acres of soybeans, two per cent more than last year's record 313,000.

Summary of Conditions

The high-pressure area is slated to move from northeast Utah into western Colorado by Thursday evening. And the ridge of high pressure running through eastern Nebraska will move on east by Thursday evening.

Thus the weather picture holds mostly fair skies in store for Nebraska through Thursday night, becoming fair to partly cloudy over the state Friday.

Temperatures will warm up a little Thursday, most noticeably in north central Nebraska. It will also be a little warmer in the eastern quarter of the state Friday.

Plague On All Houses

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Looking at the two proposals made for medical care to the aged, the average person might well decide we should forget about the whole thing. The real fact is that neither of the programs is without substantial shortcomings. The two proposals are the Kerr-Mills approach which is in process of being implemented by Nebraska, and the King-Anderson approach through Social Security advanced by the Kennedy administration.

It was originally thought that the Nebraska bill for Kerr-Mills was a pretty stingy one and it was, but thanks to state welfare officials it is even worse than that now. The Public Health Committee of the Legislature sent to the floor of the Unicameral the substitute proposal suggested by the State Welfare Department rather than the original document introduced by Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen and others. The substitute bill tightened eligibility requirements and cut down on benefits. Advocates of the measure said that the Bowen bill would make Nebraska one of the most liberal states in the Union.

Reduced To New Low

Such is not the case and the state under terms of the bill advanced to the floor would be one of the most conservative. Many of the states that have enacted Kerr-Mills legislation have more lenient eligibility requirements than were contained in the Bowen proposal and many states have no limits whatsoever on benefits.

Both Nebraska measures have provisions extending the means test or eligibility to the sick person's children and permitting the state to file a lien against the recipient's property for the recovery of any benefit payments. These proposals are found in less than half of the plans that had been adopted by states through June of 1962.

With the welfare plan for Nebraska, eligibility is fixed at an income level of $1,500 or less per individual and $2,100 or less per couple. The Bowen bill was $1,800 and $2,400. A further requirement is that an individual's resources can amount to only $700 and a couple's, only $1,500 (the exact level at which Old Age Assistance can be drawn). Again, the Bowen bill was $1,000 and $2,000 on resources or fixed assets. The Bowen bill contained no limits on benefits while the welfare plan is $50 deductible on hospital care and $25 deductible on nursing and physician fees and drugs and medicine.

It is clear that the Nebraska proposal is about as tightly drawn as it can be and still be anything at all. Just a little tighter and it would cover only those on the welfare rolls who already get free medical assistance without any deductible clauses. Strangely, for medical care a person would be better off on Old Age Assistance than he would be if living on his own resources. And to qualify for medical care, the individual wouldn't be far from the OAA rolls. He could be on OAA with only about $500 a year less income than he would have to make the grade at maximum income levels for medical care. With the medical program so close to welfare levels, it is again obvious that many of those who will be eligible will already be on welfare rolls. Thus, it would seem difficult to say what the additional expenses of the Nebraska Kerr-Mills bill will be as some of it will be merely a shifting from welfare to Kerr-Mills.

To say that the Nebraska program is a minimal one can hardly be denied. Perhaps this is what the people of Nebraska want but it certainly is not going to solve the medical problem that face many elderly people. If it does solve it for them, it will do so only after they have been reduced to the pauper state required to become eligible for help.

This is why advocates of the Social Security approach have argued that Kerr-Mills will not take care of the program. It is because the states will not adopt sufficient plans and the experience to date has shown this to be the case. A major reason for this, of course, is lack of funds—a problem the administration hoped to get around with Social Security financing.

If you want to call Social Security a tax, go right ahead as it is more that than anything else but it has gotten a good job done in the field of retirement income. Even this approach, however, has some shortcomings as it is currently only a hospital insurance plan. It would not cover doctor bills and these can be quite a problem, too, in the case of a major illness. What the ultimate answer to this might be and probably will be is anybody's guess but the tight-fisted approach taken to date is only going to bring on more drastic action at some later time.

Prolonging The Problem

The vast majority of elderly people will never receive any benefit from Kerr-Mills and a great many of them have found that private insurance programs are grossly inadequate and too expensive. Nebraska hardly gets credit for trying with the miserly plan that has been advanced by the Welfare Department.

A Zany Business

The farther the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee goes in its investigation of the rating systems used to determine the life and death of TV shows and careers, the more one is convinced that the problem is mostly one which the industry itself has evolved from which it does not know how to extricate itself. Ratings are of no service either to the public or the quality of television.

For the television performers it's a case of Russian roulette, a case where in an actor's career is based on a set of numbers, not on theater. And no one has yet proved that the method for arriving at the numbers is very accurate.

Program sponsors and the television industry, itself, should become reconciled to a fact. If there is a television set in every home then millions of people will view television no matter what is on it. That's the real connection the sponsors desire. After that it is up to them.

As to the quality and worthiness of the medium, such is a matter of resolve on the part of the industry. The rating systems will work for an evening of dog fights as well as for an evening of grand opera. They are relative. They presume to state which of the program fare, good or poor, is getting the most patronage at a given time. They never state whether television is growing better or worse or what the public would view if it actually had its druthers.

The result is a frenetic situation driving performers out of their theatrical sanity and inducing sponsors to gamble on a numbers game. Culture will never be built that way while public service will live by caprice.

A Fitting Finish

An effort to make a mountain out of a molehill has failed.

The motion to investigate charges made by former State Senator Ray Simmons against the Daily Nebraskan, the university's student paper, died in regents meeting when no one seconded it. It is just as well.

An examination of the record shows that the University, despite its determination to cherish academic freedom, has never turned out an Aaron Burr. The Daily Nebraskan has never fomented a revolution, nor denounced the flag nor caused a public outrage, civil, moral or philosophical. But it has represented earnest young minds which have more enthusiasm for an idealized America than older and footweary people can exert. And if it weren't for that we don't know what would become of this best of all lands. We can't live on tired blood. And we would be much worse off if youth lacked the spirit of inquiry and the touching interest in their country.

Crusty, venerable Hyde Sweet, the dean of Nebraska editors, who was suggested as one of the investigators, turned in one of the briefest and best editorials of his long and useful career, when he spurned the job. He said. "It would be quite disagreeable to me to be involved in any such inquiry and I am against it heartily.

"My theory is that unless those kids preach treason or sedition, let them blow off steam. I am sure in due time they will come down to earth if, for that matter, they ever left terra firma in the first place. I am against censorship of any kind. I still stand for the First Amendment."

Hyde always could get right to the heart of things.

Wasting Homeowners Money

City Councilman Robert Fulton has apparently forgotten the value of a dollar. To increase the width of residential streets, he says, will cost only $30.88, not $200 as has been claimed by some. He was referring to an increase from 26 to 30 feet with assessment applied against a 50-foot lot.

First of all, we doubt that Councilman Fulton is correct in his figuring of the increased cost. He comes up with what amounts to a 19 per cent hike in the width of the paving and an increase in cost of less than a third of that size. And there are a host of other things that might enter into the picture to affect the cost even more drastically.

If the paving proposed was in difficult terrain, the extra cost of four more feet could easily be several hundred dollars. The city hesitates to tell anyone in advance what paving will cost because it can be so uncertain. And a 50-foot lot isn't very standard any more, with many of them running 60 feet and more.

But even if the extra cost was "only" $30.88, why spend if it isn't necessary? That might not be much money to Councilman Fulton but it can be a lot to the small homeowner trying to make ends meet with a growing family—a homeowner who must sacrifice quite a lot to get paving even at what it already costs.

The purpose and intent of residential streets being what they are and exactly what the name implies, the extra width is of no value whatsoever. If the City Council should approve of this fancy dream, it would only be loading Lincoln homeowners with an expense that could not be justified. It is hoped the council isn't fooled any by Fulton's ridiculous "cost study" and turns down the added paving width as it has done in the past.

Link Rocky With Joan In Romance

WASHINGTON—The most lively speculation in Washington, D.C., is not over Russian troop withdrawal from Cuba or a nuclear test ban but over whether Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will marry beauteous Joan Crawford, and, if so, whether it will help or hurt his political career.

Speculation is getting close to unanimous on the first point, but is divided about fifty-fifty on the second.

Originally, Governor Rockefeller's name was linked with that of the wife of a New York doctor, but this romance is reported to have cooled.

Miss Crawford, one of the glamor greats of filmdom, has, in recent years, made quite a name for herself as a business execuitve and is now the dominant stockholder behind Pepsi Cola. She became "Mrs. Pepsi Cola" through her marriage to the late Alfred Steele, president of Pepsi.

Miss Crawford is one of the few actresses who are quite frank about their age and their marriages. She is 55 years old and doesn't mind admitting it in her Who's Who biography. She does not look her age. She also does not mind admitting that she was married first to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in 1929; then to Franchot Tone in 1935; then to Philip Terry in 1942. All three marriages ended in divorce. Her fourth marriage, to Alfred Steele, was a wonderful success, and she has adopted one son and three daughters.

☆ ☆ ☆

Miss Crawford has appeared in more Hollywood films than she can remember, including Dancing Daughters, Blushing Brides, Untamed, Modern Maidens, Paid, Laughing Sinners, Possessed, Grand Hotel, the Gorgeous Hussy, The Bride Wore Red, They All Kissed The Bride, The Woman Is Dangerous, Torch Song, Johnny Guitar, Female On The Beach, Queen Bee, and The Best of Everything.

The conclusion of this observer, for whatever it may be worth, is that in this modern political age Miss Crawford would be a political asset.

The Public Health Service estimates that at least 1,368,000 Americans are harmed every year through drug "misadventures;" in other words by taking the wrong medicine or taking unproved medicine. So beginning today, the only druggist in the Senate, Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., plans to do something about it.

He is holding Senate hearings to promote exchange of information between medical centers and hospitals so that doctors may readily and easily get word when a drug has been discovered with harmful side effects.

Defense Quarrel Is Over Who Gets $$$

WASHINGTON—The noisy quarrel, which is essentially between two giant contractors and their congressional backers, over the TFX plane contract points up the ever-growing entanglement of huge defense spending with the politics of who gets what.

The Senate subcommittee investigating the $6.5 billion contract has taken after Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara on the ground that he gave the contract to General Dynamics even though Boeing entered a lower bid. McNamara's answer is that economies to be achieved through developing a single plane for both the Air Force and the Navy determined the award. A resolute man, he shows no signs of reversing his decision.

The Defense Department has responded by saying, in effect, that you can hardly expect an unbiased finding when senators with a direct stake in the outcome sit on the investigating committee. The accusing finger is pointed at Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash), for whom the Boeing plant in Seattle and its payroll must be a major consideration.

But it is possible that Jackson, with his wide and continuing interest in national security, would welcome a way out of the pressures that inevitably bear down on a senator with important defense industry in his state. If he can deliver for a particular industry back home he may at the same time be doing a disservice to the nation and to the taxpayer in terms of cost and efficiency.

☆ ☆ ☆

That is why the Senate, instead of indulging in the quarrel currently going on, would do well to give serious consideration to the proposals of Sen. Clifford Case (R-NJ). Case put in bills the other day calling for complete public disclosure of all communications whether written or oral and from members of Congress and anyone in the executive branch seeking to influence the awarding of a contract. He would also require full and prompt disclosure of the basis on which a negotiated contract is granted.

Of the $60 billion a year in defense and space contracts an estimated 65 percent are negotiated without competitive bidding. This is a wide open invitation to pull and push. While by most accounts McNamara has done a remarkable job of standing up to these pressures, it is too great a burden to put on one man.

That any of the Case proposals will be adopted seems unlikely even though five other senators have joined in sponsoring the bills. The Joint Committee on contracts cuts across to many privileges and perquisites which present committee chairmen cling to.

With each succeeding election, so long as defense budgets run at $55 or $60 billion, the game of contract promise and grab will become more deeply entrenched in the political system. As this system prevails any meaningful disarmament is bound to become more difficult. Each member of Congress will have a stake in keeping the home plant going. This has already been demonstrated in areas where aircraft contracts have been cut back as missiles have begun to dominate.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been an arthritic and a wheelchair invalid for 15 years but am only 50. Two doctors say I had rheumatoid arthritis but some 10 others say it is osteoarthritis. The V.A. says it is osteo. Why is it we hear that they have found help for rheumatoid but not for osteo?

Molner

—V. J. W.

By and large, rheumatoid arthritis is by far the worse, but not nearly as prevalent. Here is the difference. Rheumatoid arthritis is an acute, severe, inflammatory disease.

Osteoarthritis, on the other hand, is a condition rather than an active disease. It is the term we use to describe joints that have become worn or damaged. Or, more likely, both. It is the result of wear and tear.

It is true that we can do something for rheumatoid arthritis. We can, by proper care, limit somewhat the amount of damage it does while it is in its active phase. Candidly and sadly I admit that we do not know very much, but it is not for want of effort and study. It is a savage disease, difficult to control and to understand.

(Remember that rheumatoid arthritis can strike at any age. It is not a disease of old people. Osteoarthritis, on the other hand, for the most part develops late in life.)

When an acute attack of rheumatoid arthritis has run its course, and the inflammatory period has ended, what is the result? It is deformity in the joints that have been attacked. Deformities of a different nature occur with osteoarthritis. The two conditions can exist as a mixed form of joint disease in the same patient.

Hence we do all we can to reduce the immediate danger from rheumatoid arthritis, for there isn't much we can do after the damage has occurred.

Not much—but something. Aspirin, or its equivalent, remains as effective as anything we know, both in combating inflammation and easing pain.

Heat helps the afflicted joints.

Movement, even at the expense of pain, keeps the joints from gradually stiffening. And, for most people, once the pain of the first movements in the morning is past, it lessens.

In many cases, too, the discomfort waxes and wanes. Trying to keep your mind on something else may sound like thin advice, and I guess it is, but it works just the same.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: I am concerned about a member of the family who is very thin and has a bad cough. He refuses to see a doctor or have a chest X-ray. He insists it is a cigaret cough. How contagious is tuberculosis? Can you keep yourself from getting it by eating and resting properly?

—Mrs. F. H.

The healthiest person in the world can pick up tuberculosis if exposed often enough to the germs. Whether your relative has TB or not, nd I decline to guess, he is being selfish and unfair even to himself by not finding out. Especially when, these days, TB societies offer free chest X-rays.

That's the way to distinguish between a "cigaret cough," TB, and several other things. I can't tell without tests; neither can your puffing, over-positive relative. I hope he sees the light.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes ridged fingernails? The nails are strong and do not break.

—O. C. M.

Ridges running lengthwise are usually the result of some defect in the nail bed. Older people are inclined to have them to some degree.

If the ridges run crosswise it more likely indicated injury at the base of the nail when it was forming, or illness at that same time. Seven days of illness with fever and impaired nutrition are enough to make such a mark on the nails.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between Negro and white blood?

—Mrs. J.

Given two samples of blood, a laboratory expert can't detect which blood came from which color of person. They are the same. Blood is just a useful (and necessary) fluid. It doesn't determine what a person is. Does a blood transfusion from a red-head to a blonde make the blonde grow red hair? Of course not!

As long as a person is healthy, he can give blood to a blood bank and the blood will be useful to any patient who needs a transfusion. It isn't blood that determines race: it's heredity — in free germ cells.

The Dove

Lincoln, Neb.

Last fall my husband, two grandchildren and I were cutting weeds near the barn on a 40-acre farm we had recently bought. A short distance from us was a creek with trees and underbrush. Suddenly, with no warning, a bullet whistled past us. For the first time in my life, I was near enough to a bullet to hear it sing as it passed. Any one of the four of us could have been hit and we might never have known who did it. Even had the hunter been found, it would have been called an accident and nothing much done about it.

On this place are many doves because there is much cover for them. I wonder if, when we move out there this fall, we will have to be constantly afraid of being shot. I hope the doves will be one less thing to hunt.

E. C. B.

Lincoln, Neb.

The bird lovers and real human beings should check our Legislature to see who the "cannibals" are who voted for the shooting of our timid little doves, the gentlest of all in the bird kingdom. "Terrible Terry" hasn't changed any, in fact, he is really worse, and if the governor signs the bill, he will be just as bad.

It would take six doves to make Terry a mouthful.

VOTER

Lincoln, Neb.

I can't understand our government saying that they want peace and then turning around and promoting a law to shoot the only contented bird, the dove.

After a big day's work, working in the garden or canning, there's nothing like sitting down to rest and hearing the dove's call of peace. Anyone who will kill a dove will kill anything, person or beast.

They have everything else to shoot at. Why pick on the one bird that brings some peace and contentment to people? The dove doesn't show up until all the noise of daily life has settled down.

No wonder so many of our young people grow up always wanting a gun to kill with.

Walton Writing

Lincoln, Neb.

This is my first fan letter and it is directed to the Star's writer, Don Walton, whom I do not know. To me, his column contains the most perceptiveness, rationality and plain good sense of any I have read. He sorts through the irresponsible rantings of extremists, both of the right and left, and comes up with a well considered judgment.

I remember particularly his article refuting the premise that our federal government is our worst enemy. Though I have no facts to prove it, I would suggest that there are more graft, corruption, stupidity, self-aggrandizement and pure political motivation on the local level than the national.

Many of his other articles have also been markedly to the point. I admire his courage in being specific by naming the persons he is criticizing, rather than writing in general terms.

May he continue his good work.

To Paraphrase

Lincoln, Neb.

I see by the press that Governor Morrison, in refusing to bounce Roger A. Langenheim from the state payroll, praised Langenheim as "one of the fathers of the state's agricultural research program."

This impels a bit of paraphrasing:

"Our father, who art in the south 40, Langenheim be thy name.

"Give us this day our daily Nebraskit and milk bar and castor bean.

"And forgive us our wonderings about conflict of interest, as we forgive the governor his inability to sever long-standing ties.

"And lead us not into an investigation, but also deliver us from the Republican Party and a reduced emphasis on agricultural by-product uses.

"For thine is the part-time kingdom, and the contract and the single-purpose vision and wisdom, for ever and ever and ever, Amen."

Governor's Vetoes

Chadron, Neb.

Thank God for Governor Morrison and his two vetoes! He has given a warning that Nebraska is not to become another Mississippi, at least not without a battle royal!

Little men such as Terry Carpenter and Governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi fail to see beyond their noses if even that far.

When the Supreme Court becomes the pawn of the several legislatures, our complete demise will not be far off! Thank God for the vetoes!

ERIC G. DeFLON, M.D.

Anselmo, Neb.

Our governor did right by his vetoes. Too many of us want to do as we please, regardless of the law or the Constitution. That is what causes crime, weakens our nation and could cause civil wars. A strong nation must stick together, support a president, and not think that freedom is just to do as we please.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Elders Enjoy Increasing Independence Of Spirit

By ROBERT PETERSON

Many older people have told me one of the joys of age is the rising independence of spirit. This thought is well put by Arthur C. Benson who wrote in his memoirs:

"I used to desire to do the right thing, to know the right people, to play the right games; it was all important to be in the swim. But gradually I discovered that other people troubled their heads very little about what one did; that the right people were often the most tiresome; and that the only games really worth playing were those one really enjoyed.

"I used to undergo miseries doing things I didn't really want to do, and accepting invitations that interested me little—all because it seemed the thing to do. But with age I am emancipated."

☆ ☆ ☆

How can housewives launch new careers? Three years ago Mrs. Evelyn B. Kruse was growing restless with her three children grown. So she started a registry of baby sitters in her suburban community outside Cincinnati, Ohio. Soon people were asking for higher-caliber help, such as nurses, medical assistants, x-ray technicians, mature women to care for elderly patients and housekeepers to come into homes and care for children while parents went on vacations.

Things have worked out so well that this 52-year-old woman now heads a professional placement service with shiny new offices in a medical building. She writes that in her opinion every mid le-aged housewife owes it to herself to sample the satisfactions of a business career.

A chap who sometimes helps me with my mail was chuckling the other day when he noted a letter from a reader who said she was married "to a middle-aged 35-year-old man." Being that age himself, he thought it hilarious that one so young should be labeled middle-aged.

I had to shatter his illusions of youth by pointing out that 35 is the very essence of middle age. According to actuarial tables, a person of 35 has reached the mid-point in his life expectancy and has an equal number of years remaining. Fortunately, the longer we live the longer we can expect to live. At 40 we have about 32 years left. At 65 the actuarial tables give us another 14 years. And at 85 another two-and-a-half years.

☆ ☆ ☆

Another life begins at 40 example is Allen Ludden. This native of Wisconsin went to school in Texas and taught English at the Austin High School and the University of Texas. Then he went into show business and for years worked in a variety of jobs in radio and television. But it was not until a year ago, at the age of 44, that he won the post as host of TV's "Password" and became a national celebrity.

State Retirement Bill Earns Committee's Endorsement

A proposal to establish a retirement system for state employes earned endorsement Wednesday from a special committee of senators headed by Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City.

The approval recommendation went to LB512, introduced on the governor's recommendation by Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala and 5 colleagues.

Reporting to the Legislature Wednesday, the Nebraska Retirement System Advisory Committee said the time has come "for the state to adopt a general retirement plan for all those state employes not now under separate plans."

Such a step "is greatly preferable to continuing on the piecemeal basis," the report said.

Cost of the general retirement system called for in LB512 was estimated at $987,000 per year, unless a "past service" provision is dropped, in which case the cost would drop to $725,000.

Of the $987,000 total, about $511,000 would have to come from state property taxes.

State law provides for the Retirement System Advisory Committee composed of the chairman of the Legislative Council, chairman of the Committee on Committees and three other senators. Present membership includes Sen. George Gerdes, Jules Burbach, Fern Orme and Albert Kjar.

Pork—And Peaches Alaska

A boneless fresh pork leg makes a fine roast for the rotisserie or oven. You may find the roasts prepared for the spit in the meat cases. If not, with a little encouragement, you can get the meat man to remove the bone and tie the roast. Bone-less or bone-in, the fresh ham can be oven roasted if rotisserie cooking is not for you. Rub an eight pound boneless, fresh pork leg roast with sage, salt, and pepper. Insert the spit through the center to balance the weight evenly. Place the spit in the rotisserie and follow the equipment manufacturer's directions. The roast shown was cooked at 325 F. for about 3 hours or until the roast meat thermometer reached 185 F. A roast of similar shape and weight would take about 4½ hours in the oven.

Peaches Alaska: Place 6 drained peach halves in shallow pan. Center each with cube of canned cranberry sauce. Beat 2 egg whites until frothy. Gradually add 3 tablespoons sugar and continue to beat until stiff but not dry. Pile meringue over peaches. Bake in slow oven (325 F.) 15 minutes.

Sophisticated Touch

A sophisticated brunch served at midnight or high noon calls for a refinement of the recipe and the service of the usual ham and eggs.

EGGS BENEDICT

Place slices of baked ham on buttered toasted English muffin halves. Top with poached eggs. Spoon Hollandaise Sauce generously over each serving.

To make Hollandaise Sauce:

Yield: ¾ cup

1 stick (½ cup) butter or margarine, melted
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Few grains cayenne pepper
3 tablespoons hot water

Place egg yolks into top of double boiler. Beat until smooth but not fluffy. Stir in lemon juice, cayenne pepper, and butter. Add hot water. Set mixture over hot, but not boiling, water so that water does not touch bottom of bowl holding sauce. Stir and cook until thick, about 4 or 5 minutes.

NOTE: This sauce may be served immediately, or it may be reheated over hot water.

A Truly Delicious Concoction

Baklava is a rich, sweet dessert which resembles pastry, filled with ground nuts and drenched with honey. Credited to Armenia, an area which is now part of the U.S.S.R., this dessert is also eaten in Turkey, Greece and Syria. Baklava is considered a very difficult dish to make, so many Armenian housewives buy it ready-made or buy the large sheets of pastry already rolled-out, ready for filling. The secret's in rolling the pastry thin, very thin, 'til it's almost transparent. Our recipe is simple to make and you'll find the unusual result is well-worth a bit of experimenting.

GOOD 'N' EASY BAKLAVA

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
¼ to ⅓ cup water
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
1½ cups chopped walnuts
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon orange extract
Melted butter or margarine
1 cup honey

Sift together flour and salt. Mix together egg, ¼ cup water and melted butter or margarine. Add liquid mixture to flour mixture, mixing well. If necessary, add more water to make a soft dough. Turn out lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead 5 minutes or until surface is smooth and slightly blistery. Wrap in aluminum foil and let stand at room temperature 30 minutes. Combine nuts sugar, cinnamon, lemon juice and orange extract. Divide pastry into 4 equal parts. Roll first part to 8 x 16-inch rectangle and cut in half, forming two 8-inch squares. Place one square in center of 9-inch square baking pan. Sprinkle evenly with 3 tablespoons nut mixture. Repeat with second square of dough, pressing dough firmly over filling. Repeat with remaining filling and dough, making eight layers of dough and seven of filling. Brush top layer with melted butter or margarine. Cut through layers forming 2 x 1-inch rectangles. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 40 to 50 minutes or until deep golden brown. While Baklava is baking, heat honey to boiling, reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Remove from heat and cool. Pour over hot baked Baklava. Spoon honey that runs off sides back over pastry 4 or 5 times. Let stand at least 30 minutes before serving.

Makes thirty-two 2 x 1-inch bars.

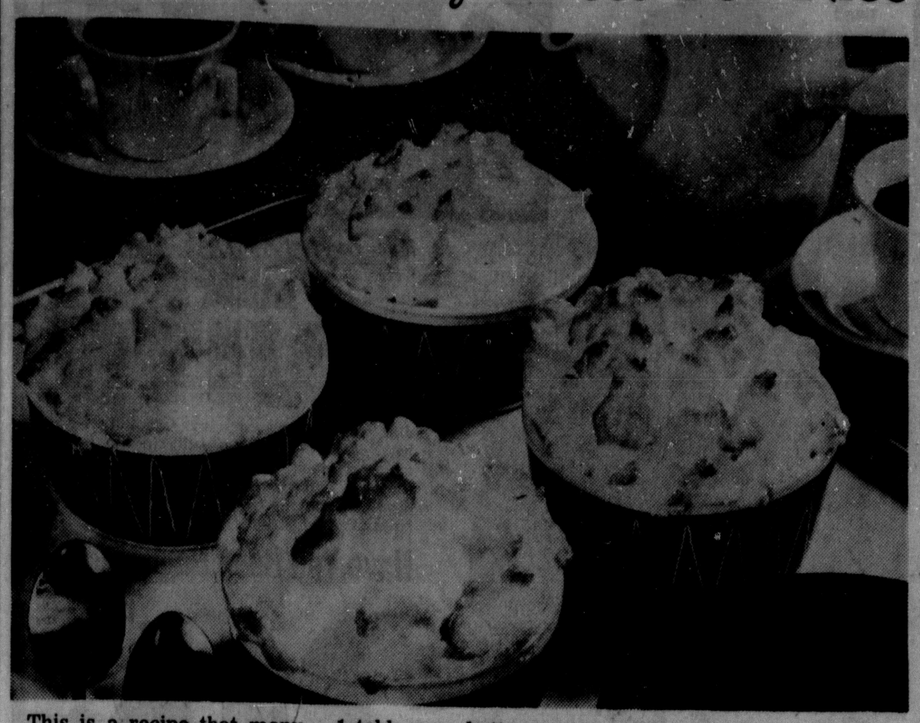
New And Fancy Dress For Rice



This is a recipe that many homemakers will like the second and third times they prepare it. For example, the apricot preserves might be swirled through the creamy pudding before the meringue is added. Or other fruity flavors might be used instead of apricot preserves. Canned cherry pie filling could be used as could pureed stewed prunes or cornstarch thickened crushed pineapple.

Shredded coconut might be blended into the stiffly beaten egg white to give flavor and a "Porcupine" look to the baked meringue.

Serve the dessert as soon as it has lost its oven heat, if you will, or chill it thoroughly before serving.

FRUITED RICE MERINGUE

1 cup cooked rice
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
3 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup apricot preserves
2 tablespoons confectioner's sugar
½ teaspoon lemon juice

Heat rice with milk and butter in top part of double boiler. Beat egg yolks with sugar and salt until smooth. Add part of heated milk to egg mixture slowly. Return to double boiler and cook over hot water until thickened, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Pour cooked pudding into a buttered baking dish or buttered individual dishes and cool. Spread with preserves. Bake at 425 degrees until meringue is delicately browned, about 10 minutes. Cool before serving.

Makes 6 servings.

Frosting

The unexpected always is something to expect—and certainly it pays to be prepared for those unexpected guests—Need cake frosting in a hurry? Here's how—

TOASTED COCONUT FROSTING

(Filling and frosting for a 2-layer cake)

1 package toasted coconut instant pudding
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
½ cup cream or evaporated milk
¼ cup soft margarine

Combine pudding and remaining ingredients in bowl.

Everybody Likes This

You don't have to be a sea captain to thoroughly enjoy this casserole. This is a recipe that everybody likes at anytime, anyplace—it's that good—

CAPTAIN'S CASSEROLE

1 package frozen fish rectangles or squares
3 large potatoes, peeled and cut into 2-inch chunks
2 carrots, sliced
1 cup peeled small white onions
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped parsley
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup sherry or sauterne (or ¼ cup water plus 1 teaspoon lemon juice)

Remove fish portions from freezer. Cook vegetables in boiling salted water to cover for 10 to 15 minutes or until potatoes are barely tender. Drain. Heat butter in large skillet which you can use for serving. Add vegetables and saute until lightly and evenly browned. Push vegetables to one side and place fish portions flat in skillet. Cook to lightly brown one side, then turn. Sprinkle all with parsley, salt and pepper, then pour wine (or lemon juice and water) over all. Cover and simmer gently 10 to 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Serve from skillet, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Russillo-Carpenter Fight Breaks Out On Floor

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The long-simmering undercurrent of conflict between Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and Michael Russillo of Omaha burst into the open Wednesday on the floor of the Legislature.

Russillo arose to announce that he has concluded from Carpenter's actions and from what he has been told that the Scottsbluff lawmaker "is out to get me."

That, Russillo said, is the reason that Carpenter led a successful assault on Russillo's resolution proposing a state highway study. Resolution 1 was axed Monday on a motion by Carpenter.

Thus, the Omaha legislator said, he wished to remove his name as introducer of 3 highway bills in order that they might be "considered on their merits," rather than in the light of personal dispute. The request was granted.

Carpenter replied that he is "quite sorry that the senator from Omaha feels he is abused . . . sorry he can't take care of himself."

'Others Abused'

Russillo, he said, is "not the one who has been abused in the past. I have been abused, and there are others here who have been abused."

When Russillo first entered the Legislature in 1959, Carpenter asked, "who was in the position of being beaten over the head? It was Senator Carpenter."

Russillo, he said, "attacked my family and my wife."

Carpenter said he has "a responsibility" to oppose any measure with which he disagrees, "and I shall continue to do so."

Denies Claim

Russillo said he "emphatically denies" Carpenter's argument that the highway resolution was designed to establish a new formula for redistribution of highway revenue funds.

The Omahan told the Legislature that he has learned from "two different sources" that Carpenter has said he will oppose all Russillo bills.

Carpenter, he said, is "engaged in a sport of gamesmanship with me."

Russillo also said he was "surprised" to read Gov. Frank Morrison's comments that axing of the highway resolution represented an expression of confidence in the Department of Roads, when State Engineer John Hossack himself testified in favor of the study.

Russillo's name was removed from LB469, establishing a paving use fee; LB480, increasing the state engineer's salary, and LB574, creating a right-of-way acquistion fund.

NU Presents Its Long-Range Building Plans

Details of a proposed $36.1 million building program for the University of Nebraska's city campus, agricultural campus, and outlying experiment stations were outlined before the Budget Committee Wednesday.

Priorities for each of the Lincoln campuses were explained by NU Vice Chancellor Adam Breckenridge in connection with an appearance before the committee on LB534 which seeks a special NU Building Fund of .6 of a mill.

Dr. Breckenridge said the most urgent need on the city campus is for new facilities for the Department of Music, the Department of Physical Education for Women and the construction of wings between Bessey and Burnett Halls.

On the Ag Campus, most urgent building needs are related to home economics. Other than that, primary needs are not related to rising student enrollments, but to carry on programs in research and service.

The projects listed by the university (with cost of construction and the amount by which annual maintenance would exceed maintenance on present facilities):

City Campus New Construction

Department of music new building to replace present music building, cost $2.8 million, maintenance, $30,000.

Physical Education facilities for women, to replace 76-year-old Grant Memorial Hall, cost $1.5 million; maintenance $24,500.

New west wing between Burnett and Bessey Halls, for expanded needs in humanities, cost $650,000, maintenance $13,000.

New science building on west side of 12th south of Avery Laboratory, cost $3 million, maintenance $51,000.

Wing for English and Geology between Morrill and Andrews Halls, cost $700,000, maintenance $17,200.

East wing between Bessey and Burnett for humanities, cost $800,000, maintenance $17,400.

Additional items for new city campus construction (no costs given): power plant expansion, extension of science-engineering building, building for engineering mechanics and testing laboratores (west of Stout Hall), addition to library facilities, second wing between Andrews and Morrill, student intramural and physical education facilities, area for central receiving and warehouse space, and teachers College building.

City Campus Renovation

Moving College of Dentistry to Nebraska Hall, cost $3 million, maintenance $26,460.

Social Sciences Building rewiring, reroofing and renovation of Business Administration College area, cost $400,000, maintenance $3,500.

Architectural Hall renovation, cost $300,000, maintenance $3,200.

Remodel Brace Laboratory, cost $450,000, maintenance $10,500.

Removal of present dwelling units and temporary buildings, cost $125,000.

Correct deficiencies as ordered by state fire marshal, cost $350,000.

Remodel Bancroft Building for Teachers College use, cost $300,000.

Renovate Bessey Hall, cost $400,000.

Remodel Coliseum for meeting halls and group activities (with expectation that new fieldhouse from non-tax athletic department funds will replace present uses of Coliseum), $2 million; maintenance $18,000.

Improve street and ground systems, eliminating through traffic and adding service drives and fire accesses, cost $750,000.

Also (no cost listed): renovation of Avery Laboratory, new boilers in heating plant, and removal of former city streets within the main campus.

City Campus Land Purchases

Total cost $2.5 million to $3 million

Land for music building, lots in area of 11th and R.

City street area between 16th and 17th and W St. east to railroad tracks.

Some remaining lots between Q and R along south side of campus.

Land northeast of campus for physical education facilities.

Tentative plans for purchases: 25 blocks between Agriculture and city campuses and residual needed areas—between 10th and Rock Island, R St., north to Missouri Pacific tracks and isolated areas north from Missouri Pacific tracks to Burlington tracks; northeast and 14th St. east to Rock Island.

Ag Campus New Construction

Two new home management houses, cost $100,000, maintenance $3,600.

Addition to power plant, cost $500,000.

Approved Juvenile Court Bills Held For Amending

Four bills dealing with juvenile courts won the approval of the Judiciary Committee Wednesday, and another was held for preparation of amendments.

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, chairman of the committee, said even though the 4 were approved for advancement, they will be held in committee so all 5 can be placed on general file in one batch.

Holding the proposals will also permit time for further revisions, if necessary.

The juvenile court bills approved were:

LB567—Providing for summons, notice, method of service and voluntary appearance by parties. (6-0).

LB589—Providing for appointment of juvenile probation officers in counties of 50,000 population; permitting appointment of such officers in counties of less population. (4-0).

LB653—Providing for concurrent jurisdiction of the county court, juvenile court, or separate juvenile court in the commitment of feebleminded persons to the Beatrice State Home. (4-0).

LB652 — Providing for the temporary custody and release of minors under 18. It is designed to protect the rights of minors and peace officers by outlining circumstances under which a minor may be taken into custody without a warrant, and the procedure which must be followed. (4-0).

Held was LB566, which amends the definition of a "juvenile delinquent" and identifies a "child in need of special supervision" as well as the "delinquent child."

In other action the committee voted to bring back to the committee LB394, the Game Commission's eminent domain proposal.

Purchasing Dept. Bill Sails

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A bill to establish the Department of State Purchasing as an executive department Wednesday sailed through its public hearing without opposition.

The measure, LB236, was a recommendation of the Legislative Council's purchasing study committee.

The Government and Military Affairs Committee adjourned without taking action on the proposal.

Also heard and held was LB748, providing that when a metropolitan city (Omaha) annexes land cointained in any organized district, city or village it then is responsible for the bonded indebtedness, obligations and contracts of such subdivision.

LB236 — presented to the committee by Sen. H. L. Gerhart of Newman Grove, a cosigner — would remove the purchasing agent from the tax commissioner's office.

He would then be appointed by the governor, subject to approval by the Legislature.

The bill provides the purchasing director with power to "promulgate, apply and enforce standard specifications."

Except for specialized products, and then only upon approval of the governor, the specifications must be drawn in such a matter that it is possible to attract 3 or more competitive bids.

Provisions are also written into the law to prevent closed bids, to provide a means by which the director may determine "the lowest responsible bidder," and to allow the director to trade in used state property for new purchases.

The bill would abolish the present 3-member Standards and Specifications Committee.

The committee was told that the measure would involve no additional costs, employes or space.

LB748 was supported by Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion and the Farmers Mutual of Nebraska, speaking for fire districts.

Omaha City Attorney Herbert Fitle opposed the bill, arguing that it is not needed and confusing. Omaha, he said, "has always picked up the tab" in its annexations.

Governor Sees Nothing Bad In Roads Study Nix

Gov. Frank Morrison said he doesn't think the defeat by the Legislature of a proposed $300,000 road study will have much of an adverse effect on the Nebraska highway program.

The governor said he is more interested than anyone in highway planning because the success of the highway program reflects on his administration. But he said the State Department of Roads is continually making highway studies.

Morrison added that he did not think it a good idea to plan beyond 10 years ahead, because there is no way of telling the types of vehicles and the needs that will be present then. The resolution proposing the rejected study envisioned a 10-year projection of Nebraska's highway needs.

2nd Chance Seen For State's Song

"Hail Nebraska," the proposed state song that failed in a key audition before the Legislature's Miscellaneous Subjects Committee Monday will get a second chance.

Gov. Morrison said Wednesday he wants the song sung in schools, on radio and television stations and by Nebraskans "to determine if they like it and then let the next session of the Legislature decide whether the song should be accepted."

Morrison said a bill passed by the last session of the Legislature, LB521, set up the song selection committee, but did not say the committee's selection had to be ratified by the Legislature.

Strict Interpretation

"In a strict interpretation of the bill, the song is the state song," Morrison told reporters. "I don't know why the Legislature even referred it to a standing committee."

The committee killed the song 5-0, claiming it should contain more verses and be more about God and the state rather than about the "Sons of Nebraska." Too, committee members felt the song was too high pitched in some parts.

The governor said he doesn't think anyone, "not even Irving Berlin," can say a song will be accepted by the public before it is tried. "The song should have a trial run and let the people decide."

Morrison said the song committee is still in existence and that after the song has been tried out, "maybe the committee will want to amend it in some parts and present it again to the next session of the Legislature."

Syas Picks No Quarrel Over 'Hail'

Sen. George Syas of Omaha said Wednesday he has no quarrel with Gov. Frank Morrison's decision to give "Hail Nebraska" a second chance, "but I am sure the people will react as did the committee — not liking it."

Syas is chairman of the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee which killed 5-0 the bill, LB753, proposing the song, composed by Lincoln musician Eugene L. Clark, be adopted as the official state song.

"The governor is perfectly within his rights to ask that the song be sung. According to the bill setting up the song selection committee, it is the state song. However, in that it was presented to the Legislature for approval, I feel that my committee had a right to reject it," Syas said.

The Omaha lawmaker said he feels now that the song has been presented to the Legislature, it cannot be declared the state song "until we designate it so. I feel the attorney general would bear me out on this point."

Crash Kills 9 Of Saud's House Staff

Cuneo, Italy (AP) — A Saudi Arabian royal jetliner with 4 Americans in the crew crashed off course in fog and cloud Wednesday onto the snow-clad Alps near the French-Italian border. All 18 persons aboard, including 9 members of King Saud's household, were reported lost.

Alpine troops and national police, balked by a rising blizzard, interrupted until Thursday their search for the 4-jet Comet IV. It vanished while bound from Geneva to the French Riviera city of Nice.

Trans World Airlines in Paris identified the Americans in the 9-man crew as Capt. E.N. Rhodes, Santa Cruz, Calif.; Capt. R. Farmer, Sweetwater, Tex.; Capt. E. H. Wunderlich, West Palm Beach, Fla., and Flight Engineer O. M. McKay, Woodbine, Iowa.

Heading the crew was Saud's personal pilot, Capt. John Hanslip of Hatfield, England.

Trans World said it had recruited the 4 Americans under contract for the king's airline. The same plane had carried King Saud, 4 wives and others to Nice for a Riviera vacation only hours before the crash. He has been in Switzerland since December for medical treatment.

GOVERNOR FACES QUESTIONS

Three 11-year-old youths who are 6th grade students at Prescott School interviewed Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday on matters of state government for a story they will publish in the newspaper they write. Gary Chesnin (left), David Johnson (center), and David Epstein (right) questioned Morrison about matters ranging through taxes, legislative reapportionment, and his reasons for vetoing the "states-rights" resolutions. The youthful reporters have dwelt chiefly on national and international problems in previous issues of their newspaper, but attention will be focused upon state problems in coming issues, they informed the governor. (Star Photo.)

100 Statewide Friends Of University Name 12 Leaders

By GERRY WRIGHT
Star Staff Writer

Some 100 Friends of the University from all over the state turned out Wednesday to organize for the purpose of informing Nebraskans about the purpose, needs and functions of the University of Nebraska.

An executive committee of 12 — two representatives from each Board of Regents district — was named to spearhead the group.

The members, temporarily headed by former state Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln, are:

Mrs. Morris Hughes of Humboldt, and Liebers, District I; Cecil Johnson and Bruce Thomas, both of Omaha, District II; Emil Reutzel of Norfolk and Dale Ball of Fremont, District III; Henry Klosterman of David City and Maurice Hevelone of Beatrice, District IV; Carson Russell of McCook and Mrs. Harold Prince of Grand Island, District V; Mrs. Essie Davis of Hyannis and George Dent of North Platte, District VI.

NU 'Big Business'

Former Gov. Val Peterson, in making the proposal for the organization, which was unanimously approved, said that the University of Nebraska is "big business in this state."

Peterson said that the university needs to be explained to the people "not just at the time the Legislature goes into session but long in advance of legislative sessions."

"You cannot get support for a university unless you are continually explaining to the people of the state why we have a university, what its functions, needs and problems are," he said.

Too Late On Budget

Peterson emphasized that "it's too late to do much in the way of influencing" the Legislature concerning the university's requested budget this session.

However, he pointed out, a long-range educational program by the Friends of the University "can get the support that the university needs."

He explained that the organization necessarily must be formed completely separate from the university proper and the Alumni Association, which occupies space furnished by tax money.

"We will need a president and paid staff to go out to sell the program on a continuing basis from now on and forever. It is not a gigantic lobby, but an opportunity for the people to know more about the people's business," he added.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin told the group that "a university such as ours is not an end in itself . . . it is just as good as its people and can be no better."

He explained some of the financial problems NU faces, including competition from business and industry for instructors plus the increasing need for professors to handle the increasing enrollments.

Dr. Hardin also noted the "urgent problems at the College of Medicine" and the need for expansion in agricultural research.

"The budget we're talking about here doesn't include expenditures in athletics, board and room of students at dormitories, the Nebraska Center and the Student Union, which are accounted for separately" as being self-supporting," Dr. Hardin added.

The executive committee is expected to meet within the next two weeks to elect a president of the organization and set up headquarters.

NEWS CONFAB START MOVED BACK 2 HOURS

Washington (AP)—A news conference President Kennedy had scheduled for 4 p.m. EST Thursday has been postponed two hours until 6 p.m., the White House said Wednesday.

The White House Press Office said no reason for the change was given in the word it received from the presidential party in Costa Rica.

Kennedy returns late Wednesday night from San Jose, where he has been attending a meeting with the presidents of 6 Central American republics.

Senate TFX Investigators Check Gilpatric's Past

Washington (AP)—The Senate investigations subcommittee is checking the relations of Undersecretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric's former law firm with General Dynamics Corp., which was awarded the controversial TFX warplane contract.

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., disclosing a check is under way of past business and professional affiliations of everyone who participated in the contract award, said Wednesday both Gilpatric and Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth will be summoned for questioning.

But he told reporters that Gilpatric, who will appear Thursday, will not be questioned on "this possible conflict of interest," but on an anonymous Pentagon statement released over the weekend criticizing the committee.

No date has been announced for Korth's appearance, but Mundt told reporters:

"I didn't know when we started this (investigation), that he was so highly influential a citizen of Fort Worth, Tex.," the city where General Dynamics would work on the TFX contract.

The subcommittee is attempting to determine whether the Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash., rather than General Dynamics, should have received the $28-million award to begin work on the fighter-bomber that will be used by both the Air Force and Navy. The subcommittee has heard testimony that Boeing offered a better plane at less cost, a claim hotly disputed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara who says Boeing's design would cost $1 billion more.

1,700 Planes

Eventually 1,700 planes are to be built for an estimated $6.5 billion.

Before Mundt made his comments other sources had disclosed the subcommittee wanted to determine whether Gilpatric had any major role in awarding the contract to General Dynamics, and what work the New York law firm of Vravath, Swaine and Moore had done for General Dynamics.

Gilpatric, who spent 20 years with the firm, severed his connections with it to become deputy secretary of defense in 1961.

Not Defense Matters

Maurice T. Moore, a member of the firm's board, said in New York Wednesday that it had done work for both Boeing and General Dynamics, but not on defense matters. Gilpatric, he said, was involved in some of this work.

The Defense Department denied Gilpatric was involved in any conflict of interest in the contract award. McNamara said in a statement:

"His integrity and devotion to public service are unassailable. As far as the TFX contract was concerned, the decision was mine and I have assumed full responsibility for it, as I said in my sworn statement to the . . . committee."

McNamara is to appear before the subcommittee Thursday also, to expand on his defense last week of the contract award.

NU Board, Medics Reach Compromise

Dr. B. N. Greenberg of York, chairman of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, said Wednesday NU's volunteer medical staff, full-time staff and the regents have reached a "compromise" agreement on the school's medical college needs.

Greenberg said the agreement was reached at a special meeting between the groups in Lincoln Tuesday night.

"We have agreed a 200-bed hospital is needed. As suggested by some members of the Legislature's Budget Committee, it should be located on the campus utilizing present facilities," Greenberg said.

Greenberg said representatives of the volunteer staff have agreed to be present at a Budget Committee hearing on March 27 to support the university's request for money to expand medical college facilities.

The volunteer staff had been in disagreement with the university and full-time staff over the expansion program.

Some 100 volunteer staff members had issued a statement opposing building a completely new hospital, favoring instead expansion of present facilities.

"Our differences were thrashed out completely and now all thinking is in mutual accord," Greenberg told United Press International.

He said construction of a 200-bed hospital on the present Omaha city campus would provide adequate teaching facilities for the College of Medicine.

BILLS FOR BIGGER CENTENNIAL COMMISSION HEARD, HELD

The Miscellaneous Subjects Committee Wednesday held two bills increasing the size of the Centennial Commission, following a hearing.

One, LB745, would add 5 members to the present 10-member commission, with the governor making the appointments as he has done.

The other measure, LB637, would create a 100-member commission which would select its own 15-member executive board.

Chairman George Syas of Omaha said the committee might end up combining features of both bills into one measure.

Legal Questions

But Syas questioned the constitutionality of LB637. Specifically, he didn't think the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture could name a member of the commission as proposed under LB637. Syas said he planned to obtain an opinion from the attorney general on the legality of the bill.

John Kelley, an aide of Gov. Frank Morrison, testified in behalf of LB745, introduced by Sens. Jules Burbach of Crofton and Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud.

Kelley said that State Historical Society Director W. D. Aeschbacher felt he should be an ex-officio member of the commission instead of a voting member as he is. If the Legislature went along with this, 6 new members could be added to the commission by the governor, Kelley noted.

Expense Tab

Under LB637, the state would have to pick up the expense tab for any of the 100 members while on commission business.

Sen. Frank Nelson of O'Neill, a committee member, estimated it would cost $4,000 for one meeting of a full 100-member commission. Syas also considered the cost of the bill as written prohibitive.

LB637 was sponsored by Sens. Jerome Warner of Waverly, Marvin Stromer of Lincoln and George Gerdes of Alliance.

Warner said the idea of the 100-man commission would be to give more representation to all areas and segments of the state.

The committee advanced 7-0 another bill, LB571, prohibiting the sale of drain oil unless it has been processed.

State Fire Marshal Joe Divis said drain oil, often used as a heating fuel mixture, is very dangerous because of its combustibility.

Nothing Dull In Suburbia

KIMBALLCREST

According to an old saying, (perhaps we should call it a wives' tale), "Woman's work is never done." Regardless of whether or not she gets her work done, however, a woman is inevitably going to take time out for a bit of fun and relaxation, for even more familiar than the former quote is the maxim, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy!"

Although we know of no Suburban housewife named Jack, we are certain that none of them are doomed to be "dull," for "play" seems to be quite popular in Suburbia this week.

The coffee break is always a welcome relief from woman's undone work, and what better way to have coffee than with the neighbors?

A Kimballcrest coffee hostess tomorrow morning is to be Mrs. Nolan Gering, who will entertain several neighbors at the group's regular twice-monthly morning gathering.

Those taking their coffee break at the Gering home will be Mrs. Don Carlson, Mrs. Dean Greening, Mrs. Kenneth Grey, Mrs. Charles Conner, Mrs. George Jensen, Mrs. Ross Lane, Mrs. Norris Frankforter, and Mrs. L. P. Livingston.

Another coffee in the neighborhood is to be this evening and this will be hosted by Kimballcrest residents Mr. and Mrs. Clark A. Springman. Mr. and Mrs. Springman will entertain neighbors at an informal gathering to honor one of the group, Mrs. Robert Davis, on her birthday.

Those who will be helping Mrs. Davis celebrate will be Mr. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wachter, and, of course, Mr. and Mrs. Springman.

And entertaining seems to be quite popular in the neighborhood this week, for more Kimballcrest residents who will be hosting friends for dinner and an evening of bridge on Saturday are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Quigg.

Guests at the Quigg home are to be Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy Ortgieson, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Nelson, and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Oakeson.

A weekend visitor in Kimballcrest will be Miss Mary Ann Miller who is to be visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Miller. Miss Miller will come to Lincoln for her weekend stay from Omaha where she is in nurse's training at St. Catherine's Hospital.

And now that we've mentioned all that is coming up within the next few days, how about a few notes on what already has happened in Kimballcrest this week.

A neighbor who has just recently returned to Lincoln is Mrs. W. E. Bryant who arrived home early this week after spending several weeks in Fort Lee, Va., where she visited her son and daughter-in-law, Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. E. Bryant.

The Lincoln visitor was in Virginia for nearly 12 weeks.

And finally comes the interesting tale of a former Lincolnite who has just attended a much-publicized wedding in Gangtok, Sikkim.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Metz told us this week that their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Metz and Mary, Helen, and Grace, are presently in Gangtok where they attended yesterday's wedding ceremony of Sikkim's Prince Thondup Namgyal to Mrs. Ronald Metz's cousin, Miss Hope Cooke, formerly of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Metz and their daughters are to be in Sikkim for two weeks before returning to their home in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

Another trip made by Kimballcrest residents last weekend wasn't to such a far away point, but we're assured that the visit was "most pleasant."

These "short-range travelers" were Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Weishahn and their son, Kent, who drove to Omaha on Saturday for dinner and the cinerama production of "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm." They returned to Lincoln that same evening.

Visitors in the neighborhood last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rea, of Sidney, who spent a few days with Mrs. Rea's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wachter and Vicky, Julie, and Jacqueline.

Another cause for their weekend stay was the State High School Basketball Tournament and a chance to visit their son, Rich, who is a freshman at the University of Nebraska.

Pi Beta Phi Plans Banquet

Alumnae and collegiate members of Pi Beta Phi will meet Saturday evening for a 6:30 o'clock banquet at the University Club honoring new initiates of the chapter.

Especially honored will be three 50-year members of the sorority, Mrs. Clyde Barton of Pawnee City, Mrs. C. M. Sherwood of Red Cloud, and Mrs. Jessie Henely, Lincoln.

To be recognized for her contribution to the fraternity will be Mrs. Jack Bourke, a former University of Nebraska student, who will be initiated into Pi Beta Phi on Saturday.

CHATTER — in the — CORRIDOR

By CATHY BELTZ

Hi there!

Well, here I am again to give you the latest news and gossip from Lincoln High School.

I want to remind you to mark your calendars for March 28, 29 and 30. The 1963 Joy Night will be presented on these dates in the LHS auditorium. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m. This years' theme is "Casting Today" and features 17 acts. See you there!

Congratulations are in order for Mike Gump and Dale Stoehr who recently have been selected for military scholarship honors. Mike and Dale each have received a Naval Reserve Officers Training Scholarship. This scholarship furnishes tuition, books, fees, uniforms, and salary for four years at any college or university where NROTC is offered.

Lincoln High senior, Charles Lowe, recently has returned from his semester stay in Germany. Charles was sent to Germany under the AFS program and lived with the Erich Prier family in Munich, Germany. He obviously had a wonderful time for he is already planning a return trip.

Winners of the Hire the Handicapped essay contest have been announced. The theme of this year's contest was "How My Community Benefits from the Abilities of Handicapped Workers." Three LHS students were winners of this contest. First place was awarded to Barbara Beckman, second place to Jerry King and Jane Warnsholz placed fourth. The awards consisted of a $100 savings bond for first place, a $50 bond for second and a $25 bond for both third and fourth places.

Congratulations also are in order for Mike Glen and Bob Vasatka who were selected to the Lincoln All-City basketball squad.

Lincoln High students are especially proud of their 1962-1963 basketball team. The Links stormed ahead and took District Championship for the first time in four years. However, they failed to win the State tournament game against Omaha Central. Congrats Links for a fine job you've done this season!

Have a happy First Day of Spring!

Dear Abby

The Worse Possible Taste

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are unable to convince our teen-aged daughter that it is bad taste to show affection in public. I'm talking about the sickening behavior one sees today between young people going steady. She thinks it's all right to hang on to a boy and put her arm around his waist while he does the same when they walk down the street. Also, because "everyone else does it" she sees nothing wrong with sitting practically on his lap while he drives the car. If we tell her it looks bad, she says we are living in the dark ages. She'll take your word for it, Abby, so please enlighten her, along with a few million others.

EXASPERATED

DEAR EXASPERATED: This is for all the vulnerable parties: Please, young lovers, wherever you are, believe me, it IS in the poorest taste to act lovey-dovey in public. A boy who respects a girl will not initiate it, and a girl who respects herself will not encourage it. So hands off. And I mean 100% off.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The person who wanted to know if the use of wedding bells had been discontinued prompted me to write. My husband is a preacher and lately he has added a touch at the close of the wedding service that has delighted all who have witnessed it. It's not original, but here it is: After the wedding ceremony, the bridal party and all the guests march to the bell rope. My husband then asks the newlywed couple to place their hands on the bell rope, while he makes a few brief remarks, calling their attention to the necessity of pulling together now and all the rest of their lives. He also mentions that the tolling of the bells will announce to the world that they are man and wife, whereupon the couple rings the bell themselves. Sincerely,

MRS. D. H. LIGONIER, INDIANA

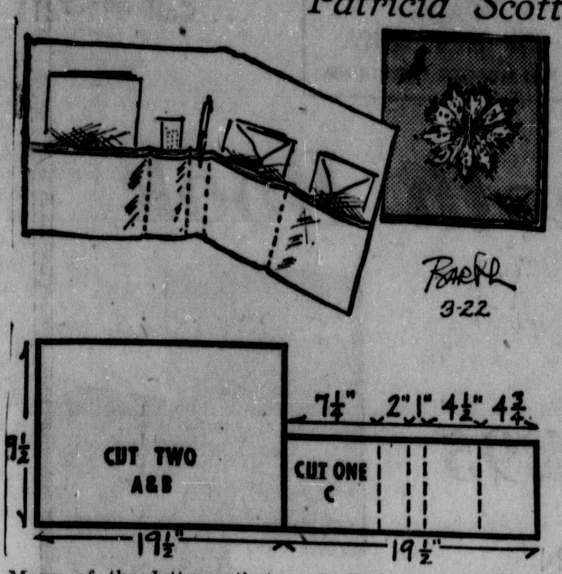
Popular Item At A Bazaar

Patricia Scott



Many of the letters that come to me ask for something which will sell well at a bazaar and which is suitable for both men and women. My suggestion is a desk accessory to hold stationery, stamps, and a pen. Anyone would enjoy owning it, for it is both attractive and handy. The one I have is made of avocado green felt trimmed in gold. This, by the way, is a color that men and women would like, but there are many varieties to choose from.

You'll Need: ⅓ yard of felt 72 inches wide; two pieces of heavy cardboard each, 9 by 9 inches; 2-¼ yards of metallic gold middy braid; one gold glue-on medallion; household glue.

To Make:

1. Following the diagram, cut two pieces of felt 9-½ by 19-½ inches; one piece 4-½ by 19-½ inches.

2. As shown, mark off pocket sections. The large 7-¼-inch pocket is for stationery, the two-inch slot for stamps, the one-inch slot for a pen or pencil. The last two, 4-½ and 4-¾ inches, are for envelopes.

3. Pin piece C along the lower half of piece B, matching edges. Stitch along the lines indicated in the diagram for the pockets.

4. Glue a row of gold middy braid along the upper edge of piece C. Glue two pieces of cardboard to piece A, leaving ¼-inch felt border on the outside and a one-inch space at the center.

5. Glue the wrong side of B over the wrong side of A. Stitch around the outside edge close to the cardboard.

6. Glue middy braid around the outside. Glue the gold medallion to the front of the case.

7. Place the stationery, stamps, pen and envelopes in the corresponding pockets.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, HOW TO ALTER YOUR DRESS PATTERNS, which gives complete instructions for altering so that finished garments will fit perfectly. For your copy of this guide to correct fitting, write Patricia Scott, Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

Opening lead — two of hearts.

Dear Mr. Becker: It will no doubt astonish you to learn that I am probably the greatest bridge player in the world!

I say this knowing full well that my name is unknown to you and the bridge playing public. It is true I have never won a world championship, or, for that matter, any kind of championship, but nevertheless, I still think no one can equal my accomplishments at the bridge table.

There is one thing seriously wrong with my game, I will admit. My trouble is that I play well only while I am asleep, accomplishing unparalleled feats of brilliance, but play badly while I am awake. I don't understand why this is so, but I am sure no one can hold a candle to my skill when I am in the arms of Morpheus.

For example, last night I held the East hand and my opponents got to seven clubs. They should have known I would defeat them, but some people just never learn.

My partner led a heart. Now anyone can plainly see there is only one way for declarer to play such a hand. He must take the ace and place all his hopes on the spade finesse. It would be foolish to finesse the heart and then later finesse the spade also. This would be running two risks instead of one.

So South, being a good player, went up with the ace. On the ace I played my king!

You can't really blame South for falling for this play. He naturally thought the king was a singleton. Accordingly, after drawing trumps, he led a heart and finessed the ten, since a spade finesse was now out of the question. He thought he had a sure thing.

But I took the ten with the jack to defeat the slam and I'm sure I would have won the rubber on the next deal except that just then my wife woke me and said it was time to get up and go to work. Cordially yours, John E. Doe.

Indifference To Drunken Driving Dismays Governor

Gov. Frank Morrison said Wednesday he is dismayed by a letter from a county attorney to the effect that the people of his county are indifferent to convicting persons of drunken driving.

The county attorney, who Morrison declined to identify, wrote that there has not been a conviction on drunken driving in the district court of his county for around 7½ years although as many as a half dozen are tried each year.

He said "although there are excellent cases presented to juries here, there does not appear to be 12 men in this county who have the intestinal fortitude to find another man guilty."

The letter continued:

"We have had cases where the blood test showed as high as .37 and the man was observed by no less than 4 police officers driving, staggering, falling, vomiting, etc. In this case, the drunken driver was turned loose. Upon a poll of the juries, it was found that they were of the opinion that since no one was killed, and it wouldn't do any good for the drunk to lose his license, they didn't see any reason to convict him. I could cite example after example of this type of reasoning."

The governor considered the letter "a serious indictment of the courts, juries, churches, schools and civic organization."

Morrison said with such an attitude by the public the state is helpless against the problem.

The only answer, the governor said, is a change of public attitude. But he said only the churches, schools and civic groups can bring this about.

French N-Test Ban Sought

. . . BEN BELLA CALLS FOR TALKS

Algiers (AP) — Premier Ahmed Ben Bella Wednesday called for talks on new military accords with France that would ban further French nuclear tests in the Algerian Sahara.

Ben Bella made the statement before an extraordinary session of the Algerian Assembly, summoned after the announcement that France conducted an underground test in the Sahara Monday.

He said the revision of the military part of the Evian peace agreements ending the Algerian war should be compatible with Algerian sovereignty.

"The government is asking for the opening of negotiations to revise the military clauses of the Evian agreement and stop nuclear testing on national territory," Ben Bella said.

A short but general applause of some 170 deputies greeted his statement.

Ben Bella's statement was milder than generally expected, and it showed a continuing concern about Algeria's economic recovery. Algeria badly needs French help and is in no position to alienate Paris.

Up To Paris

The next step was clearly up to Paris, which so far has apparently ignored Algeria's pleas to halt Sahara atomic testing.

The French test also had repercussions at the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva.

Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin described the test as the latest "link in the chain of United States military preparations."

Seven other delegations, including Canada, India and the United Arab Republic, also protested the French action but U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stelle and Sir Paul Mason of Britain did not join in the condemnations.

Tsarapkin remarked the two Western delegates' silence "shows that France, by testing nuclear weapons, has made its contribution to the arms development of the Western Bloc and to the nuclear armaments race."

Ship Hull Is Hideout

Montevideo (AP) — The Hull of an old British passenger liner, half sunk in the muddy waters of the river Plate, is being used as a hideout by smugglers, police say. Once known as the Highland Chieftain, the ship was converted into a freighter. It sank mysteriously last June.

TERRE HAUTE BLAZE LEVELS FIVE DWELLINGS

Terre Haute, Ind. (AP)—Windfed flames swept half a block of the heart of downtown Terre Haute Wednesday, reducing 5 buildings to a $5 million ash heap of smoke-smudged bricks and debris.

Ten stores were destroyed. More than a dozen others were damaged by water, heat, and stormy clouds of smoke. Seven firemen were hospitalized.

Cleanup crews moved in at dusk to begin clearing the piles of toppled walls and smouldering timbers off Wabash Avenue, the main east-west thoroughfare in this western Indiana city.

The pre-dawn blaze began in a basement bowling alley.

Three clothing stores, an appliance store, a jewelry shop, two shoe stores, a paint store, a book shop and the bowling lanes were leveled.

Nestor: FDA Permitted Sale Of Unsafe Drugs

Washington (AP) — A Food and Drug Administration medical officer charged Wednesday his agency permitted sale of unsafe drugs and left them on the market months after they showed signs of dangerous side effects.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick countered that Dr. John O. Nestor was talking about incidents that occurred before new and tougher drug control laws went into effect.

"The 3 prime examples cited by Dr. Nestor involve drugs which have been off the market for a long time," Larrick said. He referred to the drugs entoquel, mer-29 and altafur.

Overrule Medics

Nestor, in testimony before a Senate government operations subcommittee investigating safety procedures for drug marketing, also charged that non-medical staff members at FDA had overruled expert medical opinion

Larrick, in a statement issued later in the day, said:

"We operate under the terms of a law. Medical facts and judgements must be given effect in accordance with the law. Administrators and attorneys are properly entitled to evaluate the medical facts before embarking on a regulatory program that must be sustained ultimately in the courts."

Specialist

Nestor, 50-year-old specialist in children's diseases, has been with the FDA about two years, in charge of evaluating new drug applications in his field. He has been a pediatrician 23 years, with time out for 4 years as a World War II flight surgeon.

In response to questions, Nestor told the subcommittee he doesn't consider himself a crank, but rather a man of "very positive opinions."

Nestor said that any opinion which challenged past FDA policies or commitments to the pharmaceutical industry encountered "indifference, disapproval or even hostility, frequently so when they dealt with drugs for pediatric use."

"We agree that the original new drug applications could have been done better; Congress has recently required that the applications contain adequate and well-controlled studies to support claims of effectiveness. This was not so when action was taken on the 3 products described."

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

The first day of Spring, tra, la! Children have peculiar appetites. The older girl is mad for eggs Benedict.

The youngest child eats kitchen sponges. She is wild for big sponges, ripping off chunks with her new teeth. Naturally, I take them away from her—the sponges cost about 50 cents apiece! She should only have a sponge as a treat.

Eggs Benedict are $1.25 on the hotel circuit.

We have expensive, exotic tastes.

Moppets are gradually taking over the world. For many years, the magazine "Jack and Jill" would take no advertising for their 5-to-10-year-old readers.

"Jack and Jill" is published by Curtis Publishing.

They also publish Saturday Evening Post, Holiday and Ladies' Home Journal.

All of these accept advertising — though for years, the Post would take no liquor advertising. They even airbrushed out cocktail glasses if an illustrator forgot himself while picturing a short story.

In short, it has been a nonsense company. The publishers knew what was good for you.

But times (and children) change.

The ads will not be introduced willy-nilly. They will be screened by Dr. Frances Horwich.

Dr. Horwich — (the doctorate is in education) — used to be "Miss Frances" on the TV children's program called "Ding Dong School."

Naturally, the TV show carried an advertising sponsor. She delivered the commercials herself.

The interesting thing to me about "Jack and Jill" advertising is that the first contract is for advertising a musical instrument.

I don't know what musical instrument. But did you ever give your child a musical instrument for Christmas?

I give musical instruments to my ENEMIES' children for Christmas

There is nothing more fiendish around a peaceful scatter than a child with a new harmonica.

This was just like last year when the Redbirds snapped the 9-game New York Yankee spring training winning stint.

Curt Flood paced St. Louis by delivering his 3rd spring home run and by contributing two fine fielding plays when the Orioles theatened in the 8th inning.

Vero Beach, Fla. (AP) —A tree cheated Bill Skowron out of a two-run game-tying homer in the 9th inning Wednesday and helped the New York Mets hand the Los Angeles Dodgers their 4th straight exhibition defeat, 4-3.

The Dodgers were trailing, 4-2, in the 9th and Ron Fairly was aboard with a walk when Skowron sliced a wind-blown drive to right field. The ball cleared the bank surrounding the outfield for an apparent home run, but then struck a tree and rebounded onto the playing field.

Fairly scored, Skowron had to settle for a triple and pinch runner Dick Nen was stranded at 3rd as reliever Tracy Stallard fanned Frank Howard and retired Don Zimmer on an infield roller.

Cipriano's Search For Cagers Slowed By Fog

. . . NU COACH WASTES LITTLE TIME HITTING RECRUITING TRAIL

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska's new basketball coach wasted little time in starting on his recruiting chores for the NU squad, but he was slowed momentarily by airplane trouble.

Joe Cipriano left the Moscow, Ida., campus early Tuesday morning, several hours before his appointment was approved by the Nebraska Board of Regents.

Cipriano had planned to attend Tuesday night's opening round of the National Junior College Tournament in Hutchinson, Kan., but spent most of the day sitting in airport terminals waiting for fog to clear so planes could get airborne.

He didn't arrive in Hutchinson until 1:30 Wednesday morning.

Actually Cipriano started his search for cage talent last weekend when he viewed the opening day's Class A action at the NU Coliseum.

The new Husker cage boss was impressed by a number of the Cornhusker state's prep stars.

"I saw quite a few fine players who could help any college basketball program," Cipriano said. He picked Omaha Tech seniors Fred Hare and Joe Williams as two of the top prospects.

"Those two are fine prospects and I would sure like to get them," he explained.

Others who caught the eye of the former Idaho coach were Creighton Prep junior Wally Anderzunas and Columbus senior Stan Krehbiel.

Cipriano explained that he had not talked to any of the Nebraska high school cagers while in Lincoln because, "My appointment had not been announced yet and I did not feel that I should be making those contacts at that time."

The current recruiting trip will take him to Louisville, Ky., Thursday night and to state high school tournaments in Indiana and Illinois Friday and Saturday.

After that Cipriano plans to return to Lincoln to meet with returning members of the Husker squad.

"I understand that there are some good boys coming back and I think we can do something with them," he noted.

At this point in the telephone conversation, a coaching friend of Cipriano's chimed in with, "Yah, and he'll win the Big 8 too."

The new coach said he was not quite that optimistic, but felt the Huskers could be a good basketball team.

"I am anxious to meet with the Nebraska players," he said. "I am very happy with the opportunity to coach at Nebraska and am pleased to accept the challenge."

Cipriano is an advocate of the fast break offense which brought his Idaho team a 20-6 record the past season and a 75.2 per game scoring average.

But he noted that he uses some patterns. "It depends a great deal on the material you have," he explains, "But I prefer the fast break."

Cipriano says the only business he has left in Idaho is selling his house. "I am working full-time for the University of Nebraska from now on," he said.

"I don't want to waste any time in getting started on recruiting for the Huskers," Cipriano added.

FIGHT IS POSTPONED

Liston Needs Knee Surgery

. . . EXAMINATION MADE

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—Sonny Liston's left knee has been injured seriously enough to require an operation and his return bout with Floyd Patterson has been postponed indefinitely.

The Miami Beach Boxing Commission granted Wednesday night Liston's request for a long delay after receiving a written report from Dr. A. H. Wiland, who examined the knee a few hours earlier.

"We have found unmistakable evidence of the injury to the mesial semi-lunar cartilage and feel that it would be unwise for him to participate in the boxing match scheduled for April 10," Dr. Weiland's report said.

"In addition, it is our opinion that this knee should have the benefit of surgical procedure and, if such is done, a period of at least 6 months should elapse before he might be in shape to indulge in any boxing match.

The verdict apparently will knock the champion out of action for the rest of this year. His advisor, Jack Nilon, said it would require several months for Liston to get back in shape after recovering from an operation.

Al Bolan, general manager of Championship Sports, said refunding of about $74,000 received in ticket sales would start Thursday morning. Bolan said cancellation of the Miami Beach date would cost the promoters in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Patterson, who closed his training camp at Miami Beach, Tuesday night, was driving toward his home in New York. His advisor, Julius November, said it would be a leisureiy trip and Patterson will not reach New York until Monday.

has the privilege undr the return bout contract of naming the site, has no preference now on where it should be held, November said.

Dr. Weiland, who made the examination in the presence of Liston's Miami physician, Dr. Duke Baird, and the commission's physician, Dr. Alexander Robbins, made a written report which was withheld until the meeting.

Nilon told the commission Tuesday that he wanted the long postponement because, if an operation was required, it would take 8 weeks for Liston to recover and then several months to get back into fighting condition.

Ever since Liston reportedly twisted the knee while swinging a golf club, there has been speculation—but few facts—about the knee's actual condition.

Al Bolan, general manager of Championship Sports, was one of those who expressed skepticism. He hinted that Nilon might be stalling in an effort to wreck the Miami Beach fight, because of Nilon's feud with the promoters.

Triple-Title Card Ready For Tonight

Los Angeles (AP)— The enthusiasm may be at little wet washed and warmed over, but the principals are ready and the stage has been reset for Thursday night's triple world title boxing show in Dodger Stadium.

The weatherman — the gentleman who knocked out the entire card last Saturday evening — brought joy and a sigh of intense relief Wednesday to co-promoters Cal Eaton and George Parnassus.

He promised clear skies, a happy contrast to the one-punch blow he landed with rain on the original date.

So if all goes well, the program will proceed, starting at 8 p.m., Pacific Standard Time, in the following order of 15-round matches:

Welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York and Luis Rodriguez of Miami, Fla.

Featherweight champion Davey Moore of Columbus and Sugar Ramos of Mixico City.

Raymundo (Battling) Torres of Reynosa, Mex., and Roberto Cruz of Quezon City, Philippine Islands, for the vacant 140-pound, or junior welterweight title.

The promoters look for a gate of $250,000 and a turnout of 20,000 or more fans in the big baseball park.

They hope to get back some of the $100,000 that went down the drain when the card was washed out. Included was the $70,000 television revenue. The balance came when the infield seating had to be reset, plus the double cost of ushers, ticket men, parking attendants and police. There will be no television nor radio this time.

There has been no revision of the guaranteed purse money — Griffith $70,000, Rodriguez $15,000, Moore $40,000, Ramos $12,000, Torres $7,500 and Cruz $5,000.

Idaho Has No One In Mind

Moscow, Idaho (AP)— The athletic director at the University of Idaho said he has no one person definitely in mind for head basketball coach, to replace Joe Cipriano who resigned Tuesday to take the top job at Nebraska.

J. Neil (Skip) Stahley said he would leave Thursday for Louisville, Ky., and meetings of the National Basketball Coaches Association.

"This way I'll be able to see many people from the other end of the country who might be interested. When I return, of course, I'll be talking to applicants from the Northwest," Stahley said.

"Just as we did last time — when Cipriano was hired to replace Dave Strack — we're going to find the best man for the job. There's no age limit and no minimum."

Valentine Banquet Te Feature Bob Devaney

Valentine (UPI)—Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney will be the featured speaker March 31 at the first annual Pat Murphy All Sports Memorial banquet sponsored by the Valentine Knights of Columbus.

The Pat Murphy Memorial award will be presented to the person who is doing the most to boost local sports activities.

OSU Favored For NCAA Mat Crown

Kent, Ohio (AP) — Three defending champions, a former titleholder, 7 runners-up and 4 3rd-place finishers highlight the glittering field in the 33rd annual NCAA Wrestling Championships starting Thursday.

Oklahoma State University shoots for its 3rd straight title and 8th crown in 10 years. Only its arch-rival, the University of Oklahoma has broken the Cowboys' grip in the last decade. The Sooners won in 1957 and 1960.

Oklahoma has two of the defendings titlists, Mickey Martin at 130 pounds and Wayne Baughman at 191. Army's Mike Natvig holds the 147-pound crown.

The former titlist is Phil Kinyon of Oklahoma State, who was the 157-pound king in 1961, but finished second last year.

Entries from last week's national college division championship pushed the starting field to 287 wrestlers from 62 schools. This is the first time the top 4 winners in the small college class have advanced into the showcase tournament.

"This is without a doubt the strongest field in the history of the tournament," said Joe Begala, coach of host Kent State. Begala, who has seen every national meet since competing in the second one in 1928 as a collegian at Ohio University, is the winningest coach in college wrestling.

He has compiled a record of 240 victories, 42 losses and three ties.

Impressive as is Begala's record, the mark of the Cowboys from Oklahoma State glitters even more. They have won 23 national titles and have produced 74 individual champions.

Nebraska coach Bob Mancuso has entered Huskers Steve Walenz and Mike Nissen in the NCAA meet.

Bridges Rejoins Yanks After Convalescence

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (AP)—Marshall Bridges, the Yankee's relief pitcher, rejoined the club Wednesday after a 5 weeks' convalescence.

The veteran southpaw was shot in the left leg by a woman during an argument at a bar here last Feb. 12.

Bridges pitched in batting practice before the game with the Washington Senators.

Butts' Attorney Says Tests Support Athletic Director

Atlanta (AP) — An attorney for former Georgia Coach Wallace Butts said Wednesday that a lie detector test indicated Butts was telling the truth in denying a magazine charge of collusion in a football game last fall.

"He passed the test with flying colors," said attorney William Schroder. He announced that Butts took the test Wednesday in Jacksonville, Fla.

The Saturday Evening Post has charged that Butts gave inside information on the Georgia team to Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant 8 days before the Alabama-Georgia game last fall, won by Albama, 35-0. Both men have denied the charges.

Schroder said the results of the lie detector test were "extremely conclusive that Butts was telling the truth."

Among questions which Schroder said were asked of Butts was:

"In a telephone conversation with Paul Bryant on Sept. 14, did you divulge any offensive-defensive plans for the Sept. 22 game?"

"No," was Butts' answer. Schroder said the lie detector indication was perfect in support of the truth of the answer.

Schroder said the test was given by Edward L. Quinn of the Fraud Detection and Prevention Bureau in Jacksonville. He said that Quinn had more than 3 years experience and learned his profession from Charles H. Fletcher of Chicago. Schroder said Fletcher was one of the top 10 criminologists in the United States.

The Fraud Detection and Prevention Bureau at Jacksonville is a private concern headed by Joseph A. Livingston Jr., a public relations consultant and former sports writer.

Livingston said at Jacksonville that Butts returned to Atlanta after the test.

Police Capt. Robert L. Starrett, a polygraph expert in the auto theft division of the Jacksonville Police Department, said Butts did not take a polygraph test.

He said the test normally given by the Fraud Detection and Prevention Bureau was a "finger attachment test" and was not as extensive as the polygraph test.

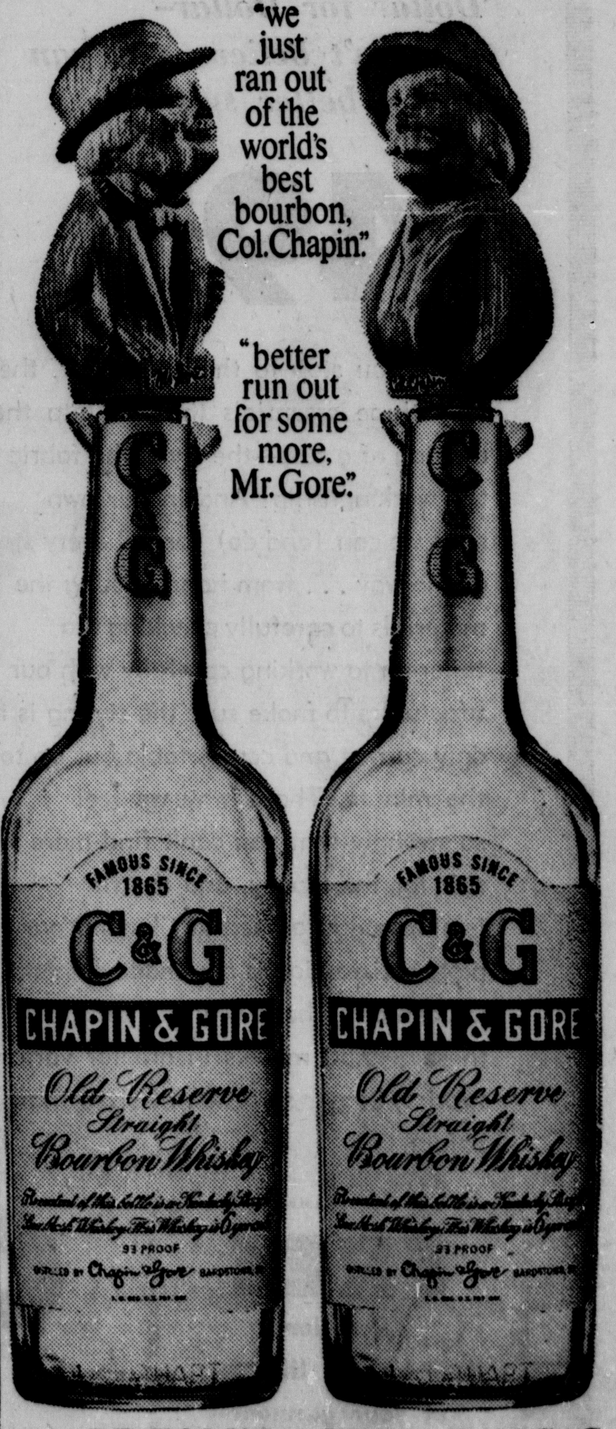
Change Okayed On Hunting Bill

A bill which Sen. George Syas said would lead to a "nightmare" as far as enforcement is concerned but which others said it necessary was amended and given initial approval in the Legislature Wednesday.

The measure, LB420, provides that a farmer could demand written permission before anyone could come onto his land to hunt. It was amended so the farmer's wife and children would not be required to obtain such permission.

Syas tried to ax the proposal but was turned down by a 24-13 margin. Then Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton sought to change the bill so it would apply only to deer hunters, but he also was rebuffed. This time the margin was 19-12.

The bill's preliminary OK came on a 21-11 vote.



Seeded Clubs And Longshot To Meet

. . . IN NIT SEMIFINALS

New York (AP)—Three seeded teams and a crowd-pleasing longshot face off Thursday night in the semifinals of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

Second-seeded Providence, 22-4, plays 3rd-seeded Marquette, 19-8, in the opening game, to be followed by a clash between 4th-seeded Canisius, 18-6, and the giant-killers from Villanova, 19-8.

The winners meet for the title Saturday at 3 p.m. with the game to be shown on national television (NBC-TV).

Eighth Straight

Villanova knocked off the topseeded favorite, Wichita, 54-53 for its 8th victory in a run after bouncing DePaul, 63-51.

The unseeded Wildcats from Philadelphia have captured the fancy of the Garden galleries with their sharp playmaking and good shooting.

The ace of the team is a scrappy 6-foot-2 guard, Wally Jones, who popped in 28 points against DePaul and projected himself into the running for the Most Valuable player award.

Villanova's success has been made possible also by the slick rebounding of a 6-foot-7 sophomore center, Jim Washington, and the ballhawking of a pair of Iron Men, Jim McMonagle and Eric Erickson, who played the first 75 of their 80 minutes without relief.

Big Job

The Wildcats' big job will be stopping Bill O'Connor, Canisius' agile center who racked up 27 points in beating Memphis State Saturday night.

Providence is a speedy, aggressive team with a dead-eye marksman in Ray Flynn, the team captain, and a plucky guard in little 5-foot-8 Vinnie Ernst, who was voted the Most Valuable Player of the team that won the title in 1961. Providence beat Miami Fla. Tuessay night, 106-96.

Ernst suffered a pulled ham string muscle in the Miami game and may be unable to play. Don Friederichs, the New York Knicks' trainer, listed him as a doubtful starter.

Marquette has a well-balanced experienced starting 5 with every man a scoring threat. Four of them hit in double figures in beating St. Louis, 84-49. Ron Glaser scored 23, Bob Hornak 20, Dick Nixon 18 and Lee Borowski 12. Dave Erickson, the center who played with a fractured hand, scored only 3 points but gave a valuable defensive performance.

NWU CAGER MAY RECEIVE PAN AM SPOT

Dick Nelson, long shot artist for the Nebraska Wesleyan University Plainsman basketball squad, is under consideration by the NCAA for a Pan American Games berth.

Nelson is being considered as a member of one of two NCAA teams to participate in the Pan American tryouts to be held in Kansas City Apr. 1-2.

The Geneva junior was second in scoring for the Plainsmen during the 1962-63 basketball season with 465 points and a 17.2 average per game.

He also was selected for two tournament teams—the Midwest Holiday Tournament in Lincoln and the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament at Brookings, S.D.—during the past season.

2 Swimming Records Set

. . . IN AAU MEET

New Haven, Conn. (AP)—Minnesota's Steve Jackman and Indiana's Chet Jastremski lowered American records Wednesday night in successfully defending their National AAU men's indoor swimming titles.

The 21-year-old Jastremski and Dick McGeagh, a Southern California freshman, hit the finish line in the 200-yard individual medley as though they were twins.

Each was timed in one minute, 58.5 seconds, but the judges ruled Jastremski the winner. The listed mark credited to a champion was 1:59.4 a year ago.

Jackman, the Big 10 champ and a 21-year-old senior from Rochester, Minn., beat Yale's Steve Clark by about 3 feet in the 100-yard freestyle. His time of 46.5 seconds shattered Clark's 46.8 scored two years ago.

The record smashing show in Yale's 25-yard pool got the 4-day meet off exactly the way experts had predicted.

Another defending champion, Roy Saari, 19-year-old Southern Cal yearling, clung to his 500-yard crown, an elongated version of the 440-yard freestyle event which was eliminated from this meet.

Indiana's Dick Gilbert captured the one-meter low board dive with 433.55 points. Tom Gompf, Air Force lieutenant, was next with 433.55. Bob Webster, last year's winner, did not compete.

Indiana jumped into a solid lead over Yale in the battle for the team title, picking up on an 18 to 12 margin. Southern Cal's freshmen were tied with Yale.

Yates Fires 289 To Lead Shooters

Norman Yates' 289 topped the Masters Division during the 8th and final week of the Lincoln Rifle and Pistol Club .22 caliber indoor pistol shoot.

Other top firings during the final week were Paul Hayes with 283 in the Expert Class, Bob Wittstruck 282 in Sharpshooting Division, Milo Viasin 279 for top Marksman and Gerald Spahn's 266 topped the unclassified shooters.

Trophies will be awarded at 9 p.m. March 26 at the Military and Naval Science Building on the NU campus.

Moyer To Defend Title April 29

New Orleans (AP) — The New Orleans Boxing Club announced Wednesday night champion Denny Moyer and challenger Ralph Dupas will meet here April 29 for the world junior middleweight boxing title.

Moyer, of Portland, Ore., who won the newly created crown by beating Joey Giambra last October, will receive a guarantee of $7,500 or 35% of the net gate plus $1,000 for transportation and $500 for training expenses.

Dupas, of New Orleans, will get 20% of the net gate. The 15-round match will be staged in Municipal Auditorium and will not be televised.

Bowie Race May Be Kelso's Toughest Test

Bowie, Md. (AP) — The oddsmakers believe Saturday's $100,000-added John B. Campbell handicap at Bowie race course shapes up as the sternest test of the year for Kelso, 3-time American champion.

While the Bohemia Stable's 6-year-old has been the 1- and 2-to-5 favorite, respectively, in his last two starts in Florida, he is an early 4-to-5 pick in the Campbell.

Top Jockey Takes State Racing Job

Omaha (UPI) — Sonny Ray Williams, one of Ak-Sar-Ben's most popular jockeys during the past 15 years, has been named assistant identifier and timer for the 1963 Omaha meeting.

Williams, 33, was the leading rider in 1952 and 1956.

Williams will also be on the official staff on the Nebraska wheel of thoroughbred racing, starting at Fonner Park in Grand Island.

Cloverleaf Loop's Best 5 Selected

Alexandria — Western Cloverleaf Conference basketball champions were awarded an all-conference berth in guard Jim Henk.

Other members of the loop's first team were Brad Bowker, Alexandria; Jack Guggenmos, Dorchester; Charles Uldrich, Milligan, and Dave Bartels, Tobias.

Also recognized were Jim Harrold, Alexandria; Duaine Bullock, Dorchester; Don Turek, Milligan; Allen Brozovsky and Dale Larkins, both of Western.

SAE Basketball Tourney Slated

Two all University Intramural Championship teams will be on hand this weekend for the first annual Sigma Alpha Epsilon Midlands Invitational basketball tournament.

South Dakota's and Kansas State's Sig Alph title-winning clubs will vie with 3 other chapter teams Friday night and Saturday for first and second place trophies.

Iowa State, Drake and the Nebraska team will be in the running for the top honors.

Two games are on tap Friday night at 9:30 on the freshmen and varsity courts in the Coliseum. The semifinals are billed for Saturday morning at 9:30 and the title game will be played at 3:30 Saturday afternoon.

Included on the Nebraska team, most of whom played for the Sig Alph's All-Fraternity championship quintet, are: Kent McCloughan, Dennis Claridge, Dennis Stuewe, Doug Kluck, Duke Papas, Ernie Bonistall, Bill Johnson, Gary Edgar and Paul Camastro.

St. Louis Rally Tops Detroit In NBA Series

St. Louis (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks dug themselves out of an early 16-point hole and defeated the Detroit Pistons 118-99 in the opener of the National Basketball Association's Western Division semifinal playoff series Wednesday night.

The second game of the best-of-5 set will be played in St. Louis Friday night.

Boyd New Cage Coach At Seattle University

Seattle (AP) — Bob Boyd of Santa Ana, Calif., Junior College was hired Wednesday as basketball coach at Seattle University, where Vince Cazzetta was released last month after a dispute over policy.

Boyd, 31, whose team has a 69-18 record in 6 years of California JC play, will take over from Clair Markey, freshman coach who ran the varsity team after Cazzetta left.

Palmer, Player Lead Golf Field For Doral Open

Miami, Fla. (AP)— A pack of 149 golfers headed by Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, and including all but 3 of the top 50 pros on the 1963 money winning list, will tee off Thursday in the $50,000 Doral Country Club Open.

Player, with $22,452 in tournament purses, and Palmer, with $21,425, have been setting a blistering pace on the pro tour. Jack Nicklaus holds 3rd place with $15,315 and Billy Casper 4th with $12,128.

The luch of the draw threw Player, Palmer and Gene Littler, last year's No. 2 money winner, into the same threesome for the first two days of competition — a combination sure to draw the biggest gallery.

Only players on the top 50 list not represented in the tournament, which offers $9,000 to the winner, are Doug Sanders, No. 23, Wes Ellis Jr., No. 22, and Dutch Harrison, No. 44.

Defending champion Casper went on from his Doral victory last year to win $61,842, trailing only Palmer, Player and Nicklaus. He returns to the tour here after a two-week layoff.

The solid rank of veterans who had won the first 9 tournaments this year was cracked last week by 20-year-old Raymond Floyd, who won the St. Petersburg Open to become the youngest winner of a major tournament in modern times.

It was the first win in Floyd's 4-month-old career and he'll be scrapping for another one here.

A $50,000 bonus was offered for a hole-in-one on Doral's 9th, a 181-yard shot over a lake to the green entirely surrounded by water. Six holes in one have been scored by the pros this year.

The new Doral course, initiated last year with the first Doral Open, is a 7,028-yard layout with a par of 36-36—72. Casper was 5 under par with his winning 283 in 1962.

Lotteries Bill Repeal Measure Introduced

Nebraska lawmakers, after considerable discussion, consented 31-6 Wednesday to the introduction of a bill to repeal a lotteries bill passed earlier.

The bill introduction grew out of Sen. Terry Carpenter's allegations that the Legislature "created a monster" and that chain store giveaways under the lotteries bill are driving independent merchants out of business.

Senators voting against introduction of the bill, LB765, included George Fleming of Sidney, Sam Klaver, George Syas and William Moulton of Omaha, Frank Nelson of O'Neill and Matt Wylie of Elgin.

Opponents of the repeal bill argued principally that the constitutional amendment on which the bill was based was approved by Nebraska voters last November and the bill responds to the wishes of the people.

Sen. Moulton noted that 47 or 48 states have similar lottery laws and to his knowledge nobody has been put out of business by it.

And Sen. Nelson recalled that only one individual appeared in opposition to the lotteries bill, LB51, at its public hearing and that individual objected to its being too restrictive.

Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City, one of three senators who voted against LB51 when finally approved 40-3, suggested that young people should be taught "that you don't get something for nothing."

And Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, who also had voted against LB51, said the body should not "be ashamed of having made a mistake."

Sen. Carpenter said the lawmakers can expect to "be subject to a lot of heat" on the lotteries subject but said "we ought to take a second look." He said, in relation to the troubles besetting small independent merchants, livestock feeders and others, that he does not want to be in the position of stimulating the departure "of those who are barely hanging on."

The repeal bill came from the Legislature's Public Health Committee of which Sen. Klaver is chairman and Sen. Fleming is vice chairman. Neither Klaver nor Fleming wished to have his name associated with the bill, however, and left a committee meeting Tuesday at which the committee voted to introduce the bill. Carpenter served as acting chairman during their absence.

Farm Bargaining Urged

. . . BY HIGH NFO OFFICIAL

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Seward — The national vice-president of the National Farmers Organization, Erhard Pfingsten of Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, told 200 Seward County area NFO members Wednesday evening that, "Farmers hold the key to prices if they will use their own ability in price determination through collective bargaining."

Pfingsten explained that the present problems of "what to do about the cattle price" could be easily answered if farmers were more completely organized.

"Farmers are not used to doing the easy thing, such as helping themselves, but if they get this in mind they can find many of their own answers to their own problems within their control," he said.

Joining the farmer audience were government officials, university, labor and business representatives, who Pfingsten told, "We sometimes feel like we are not going fast enough in agriculture, but when we look back we see many advances and we will solve our problems."

NFO officials describe cattle feeders as "much more interested in organization for higher prices now than ever before."

Organizational work of strengthening NFO ranks will be given prime importance, Pfingsten said.

The recess called last fall in the all-out holding action will be lifted at the most opportune time, and a definite timetable has been set to include other commodities if the processors do not continue to sign contracts in sufficient numbers, said the NFO official.

Burglar Who Started Cop Scandel Shot

Chicago (AP)—A talkative burglar who set off a scandal in the Chicago Police Department in 1960 was shot and wounded Wednesday on the steps of the Cook County Criminal Court Building.

Richard Morrison, 25, was wounded in the arm as he emerged from the court building. Morrison and a friend spent the day there waiting to testify against two former policemen charged with extorting money from Morrison to conceal a burglary he committed.

Police reported that several shots came from a 1959 sedan which sped from the scene.

Arm Deformed

County Hospital officials said that his upper arm was "grossly deformed" by the wound which fractured a bone. They added, however, that major arteries and nerves were intact.

Morrison has been living in Florida. He was brought here to testify at the trial. He has charged that two former detectives — George Raymond, 35, and Robert Ambrose, 38— took $1,200 from him under threat to expose him in the May 3, 1959 burglary of an insurance company.

In 1960, he touched off a major police scandal in Chicago by accusing 8 policemen of protecting him while he looted various business establishments on the North Side.

The 8 defendants were convicted by an all-woman jury in August 1961 of conspiracy to commit burglary.

House Committee Sidetracks JFK's Med School Aid Bill

Washington (UPI) — The House Rules Committee, with the bit in its teeth again, Wednesday sidetracked President Kennedy's $237 million aid program for medical schools and students.

On a 7 to 7 tie vote, with one administration supporter absent due to illness, the traffic-cop rules group failed to clear the aid bill for a vote in the House.

Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., said however the vote did not actually kill the bill. He said the way was left open to consider it again after the committee sees what other legislation is likely this year in the federal school aid field.

At a closed-door session somewhat reminiscent of an earlier era, when the rules committee sat as a frequent roadblock against the flow of legislation to the floor of the House, the rules members also:

—Killed a proposal to open House committee hearings to radio and television broadcasts, or to taped and filmed recording for later air use.

—Rejected a plan to split the education & labor committee, under the controversial chairmanship of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., into separate education and labor committees.

Ban Proposals

—Declined on another 7 to 7 vote that very likely saw all members' roles reversed from those on the school aid turndown, to approve a new House rule barring so-called "backdoor spending" proposals.

—Refused also on a 7 to 7 vote, to clear another rules change sought by conservatives and "non-spenders" to let the House legally consider bills to rescind appropriations previously made but not spent. (Actually, the House regularly does this anyway, legal or not.)

Angelene Camp Files To Run For Education Board

Mrs. Angelene D. Camp of 3750 Washington filed Wednesday as a candidate for the Board of Education.

Mrs. Camp, 44, is a housewife and active in educational and civic affairs.

Mrs. Camp

"As the mother of two school-age children and a property owner," she said in filing, "I feel I can bring to the board of education an appreciation of the needs and limitations of our school system and a determination to give our children the best education possible."

Home Economist

Mrs. Camp was graduated from the University of Nebraska in home economics and received a master's degree from the University of Illinois.

She has served on the resident and extension staffs of the university, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, League of Women Voters, treasurer of the Lincoln PTA Council, and First Presbyterian Church.

Her husband, Bernie Camp, is director of information for the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation.

Rites Held For Guilford Bryan

Osceola — Funeral services were held here for Guilford Bryan, 60, who was serving his 3rd term as Polk County commissioner at the time of his death. He was a past chairman of the board.

Surviving are his wife; sons, Curtis, University of Nebraska student, Robert, William and Gerald, all of Osceola; 7 grandchildren, a brother and 4 sisters.

Druggist Wright Trying 2nd Time For School Board

Leslie I. Wright of 5930 Garfield filed Wednesday as a candidate for the Board of Education.

Wright, 45, is owner of Wright's Prescription Pharmacy and was a strong contender in the 1961 race.

Wright

He said his filing was prompted "by a sincere interest in the Lincoln public schools."

"A good educational system is not enough. We must provide the finest facilities and teaching staff possible to equip our children of today to meet the challenges of tomorrow."

Wright is a past chairman of the Lancaster County Medical Advisory Committee and past county unit president of the American Cancer Society. He is married and has two children. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

SACRED BALI VOLCANO FATAL TO AT LEAST 150

Jakarta, Indonesia (AP)—A sacred volcano's eruption has brought disaster to the romantic island of Bali, killing 150 or more Balinese and burying some villages in lava, officials said Wednesday.

The eruption Sunday of Agung, which towers 10,003 feet above the northeast shoreline of Bali, has spread fear among the people and they are offering sacrifices to placate the volcano, officials reported.

To the Balinese Agung is the center of the universe and their gods dwell there. They believe the gods are angry inasmuch as the volcano had been quiet for more than a century before its first eruption Feb. 19 that killed 17 persons.

French Ignore British Olive Branch

Paris (AP) — Britain's foreign secretary, Lord Home, waved an olive branch at France Wednesday in a meeting of the North Atlantic Council, but was rewarded with nothing more than polite silence.

Lord Home pleaded for an end to recriminations and stalling that have marred Western political relations since France's veto of Britain's application for membership in the European Common Market Jan. 29.

He also called for a quick agreement on a NATO nuclear force as proof of the will for greater cooperation.

Keep Silent

The French kept mum.

Lord Home spoke at the normal weekly meeting of the 15-nation council. In addition to the permanent delegates of ambassadorial rank, foreign ministers of 4 continental nations also attended.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville stayed away. His Common Market colleagues on hand were Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns, Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, Luxembourg Foreign Minister Eugene Schuas and Italian Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni.

Carl Carstens, Secretary of State in the West German Foreign Ministry, also was present.

Hurry Work

Lord Home proposed that the permanent delegates press their work so the NATO ministers could take final action on establishment of a NATO nuclear force at their May meeting in Ottawa.

He suggested the first step should be a force made up of contributions from members with a nuclear capacity. That means Britain and the United States. President Charles de Gaulle, who is opposed to the idea of integration of forces, made clear long ago that France would not relinquish any control of its own budding nuclear force.

Lord Home said discussions could continue on the U.S. proposal for submarines and surface vessels equipped with nuclear-armed missiles.

State Penal Complex Passed

A bill to create a Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex was passed 42-0 on final reading in the State Legislature Wednesday and will become law immediately on signature of the governor.

Thirty-seven senators headed by Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln were co-introducers of the measure, assuring its passage.

Effect of the bill, LB625, is to place the State Penitentiary and State Men's Reformatory under joint administration although the physical properties would remain separated.

A warden for the complex will be named.

Altogether, 6 bills were passed on final reading Wednesday.

The list (E-emergency clause):

LB366 (Stalder, Fleming)—Placing volunteer firemen under workmen's compensation protection while traveling to the fire station or scene of an emergency. (E) (40-0).

LB221 (Adamson, McGinley)—Providing that auto gates through fences crossing county or township roads shall be not less than 18 feet in length when located on an established graded road. (39-0).

LB625 (Orme, McGinley, Stryker, Gottschalk, Adamson, Claussen, Gerdes, Stalder, Ruhnke, Stromer, Fleming, Moulton, R. Rasmussen, Marvel, Burbach, Gerhart, Warner, Danner, Syas, Payne, Reeves, Forrester, Foster, Hasebroock, Craft, Kjar, Kremer, Erlewine, Bahensky, E. Rasmussen, Lysinger, Skarda, Carpenter, Klaver, Damrow, Mahoney, Russillo)—Establishing a Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex to consist of physical properties of the present State Penitentiary and State Reformatory. (E) (42-0).

LB346 (Claussen, Bahensky)—Changing the percentage of weed seed that any agricultural or vegetable seed sold or offered may contain. (40-0).

LB333 (Moulton, Bahensky)—Simplifying procedure for obtaining boat licenses, eliminating requirement of proof that owner is not delinquent in personal taxes, and requiring the Game Commission to provide county assessors with lists of registered motorboats. (41-0).

LB307 (Russillo)—Appropriating $3,161.40 to pay premiums on official bonds of the state treasurer and deputy. (E). (40-0).

Withdrawal Of 2 Bills OK'd

The Legislature Wednesday consented to the withdrawal of two bills and received and laid over a request to withdraw another.

Sen. Matt Wylie of Elgin asked permission to withdraw his LB294, which would have made jail sentences mandatory for violation of certain liquor laws.

Wylie said he is dropping the bill because Gov. Frank Morrison has signed into law another measure, LB109, which covers essentially the same ground.

LB109 makes jail terms mandatory for minors who use false or altered identification cards to obtain liquor, and for adult procurers of liquor for minors.

Gov. Morrison notified the Legislature Wednesday he has signed the bill into law.

Action on Wylie's withdrawal request was deferred one day in line with legislative rules.

Sen. Ross Rasmussen of of Hooper, meanwhile, obtained unanimous consent to withdraw his LB601, a measure designed to prevent monopolies in the milk industry.

And Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala received permission to withdraw LB707, an insurance bill.

Freak Mishap Kills 2; 4 Hurt

. . . Accident Occurs East Of Curtis

Curtis (AP)—Two persons were killed and 4 others injured in a freak two car accident on State Highway 23N, about two-tenths mile east of Curtis early Wednesday.

State Trooper Bob Thompson identified the victims as Marvin W. Bollish, 21, and Louis F. Cooper, 61, both of Wellfleet.

Injured were Bernard Larson, 23; Kurt Remus, 21; Richar' Detour, 20, and Thomas Piper, 20, all of Wellfleet. Larson was released after treatment, but the others remained hospitalized.

Thompson said a car driven by Bollish, with Cooper as a passenger, passed a car driven by Larson and apparently went out of control.

The Bollish car hit a guard rail, flew over it, smashed into an embankment and went over a county road, winding up in the opposite ditch.

Larson, seeing the Bollish car out of control, attempted to avoid it, and his car went out of control and went into a ditch, Trooper Thompson said.

The deaths raised the Nebraska highway fatality toll for the year to 59, compared with 46 a year ago.

Terrorists Sentenced

Paarl, South Africa (AP) — Eighteen members of the African terrorist organization, Poqo, were sentenced to 12-year prison terms for taking part in a dawn attack here Nov. 22 in which two whites were hacked to death. Two others accused were acquitted.

POLICE LIGHT UP

Jailer Bernie Grossman, 23, of the Lincoln police department, mans the communications complex at police headquarters beneath a lighted map of the city which he built on his own time. Colored lights on the map indicate the 7 cruiser districts and 5 motorcycle districts into which the city is divided for patrol purposes, while lights at the bottom indicate sergeants, detectives, radar units, and the lieutenant and captain of the shift. When the light is on, the desk sergeant knows that unit is free for an assignment; it is flicked off when the unit it represents becomes busy or goes to lunch. Officer Grossman, who has been on the force since November, says he got the idea for the board from seeing similar ones at police departments in larger cities. The project cost him about $30 to build, he said, and was installed Wednesday afternoon. (Star Staff Photo)

Proposed Research Center Plans For NAD Spelled Out

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Clay Center — A 4-year plan of development has been spelled out for a proposed meat animal research center planned for the Hastings Naval Ammunition Depot.

Details of the center, which eventually would cover 35,360 acres, are included in a 10-page report made available to Clay Countians by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It was prepared by the animal husbandry division of the Agricultural Research Service.

As outlined, first year efforts would concentrate on developing the 10,236 acres already requested for transfer, and establishing crops and pastures. A full staff of some 45 scientists and 150 supporting personnel presumably would begin work the second year.

"The rate at which facilities and staff can be provided beyond the initial phase will depend upon budgetary consideration which cannot be definitely predicted," the report said.

It was noted, however, that if funds are available the first year, work will start on the main headquarters buildings.

The second year's activities would hinge on transferring another land area, but if accomplished this would bring the transfer of the Fort Robinson beef cattle breeding and physiology studies. The full complement of land is anticipated to be available the 3rd year, and all facilities would be completed in the program's 4th year.

Some details of the plan were outlined at a Hastings meeting by Dr. Robert Koch of the Fort Robinson research staff. The report is also in the hands of John E. Sullivan of Clay Center, chairmen of a citizens committee interested in the depot land.

Stock Market Has Big Gain

New York (AP) — A report that the Securities & Exchange Commission will not be as tough as some had feared in its upcoming legislative proposals inspired brisk buying late Wednesday and the stock market made its biggest gain in more than two weeks.

SEC Commissioner Manual Cohen was quoted as saying that jitters about the SEC report, due April 3, are unfounded and that it will not present a picture of widespread fraudulent activity.

The buying spread through most major sections of the list, bringing gains ranging from fractions to 1 or 2 points among key stocks. Some of the more widely moving issues were up 4 or 5.

The Dow Jones industrial average spurted 5.06 to 677.12.

Heavy as the late trading was, volume for the day improved only slightly, to 3.39 million shares as compared to 3.2 million the day before.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.0 to 257.1 with industrials up 3.1, rails up 1.2, and utilities up .8.

An estimated $2.8 billion was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Exchange, based on the rise in The AP average.

Of 1,272 issues traded, 756 advanced and 267 declined. New highs for 1962-63 totaled 23 and new lows 7.

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks advanced, two were unchanged and one declined.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher on volume of 680,000 shares compared with 890,000 Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. Most U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

In Memoriam 5

In loving memory of our beloved son and brother, Bryce Daniel, who passed away 18 years ago today.
To have, to love and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
In our hearts his memory is kept,
We loved him too much to ever forget.
